BULLETIN

TRENTON, April 2. (AP)—A high state official said today that an arrest was expected shortly of a member of the abduction gang which wrung a "confession" to the Lindbergh baby killing from Paul H. Wendel, disbarred Trenton attorney. The arrest was expected to follow quickly, from information and descriptions furnished authorities last night by Wendel.

By DALE HARRISON

(Copyright, 1936, by Associated Press)
TRENTON, N. J., April 2.—The Mercer county grand jury now so deeply into an investigation of the Lindbergh baby murder that it may bring another death-hour execution stay for Bruno Richard Hauptmann tomorrow night, heard Gov. Harold C. Hoffman and Attorney General David I. Wilentz today; and it appeared more and more likely that they would carry their inquiry into the morning.

When the attorney general came from the room where the grand jury is considering whether to indict Paul H. Wendel for the Lindbergh baby murder, he said there was "no basis" for an indictment "in this county, even accepting Wendel's 'confession' as true."

"Doesn't Spell Murder"
"The confession claims the child died a natural death, that it fell from bed after it had been kept here for four weeks," the attorney general said. "That doesn't spell murder in this county."

Governor Hoffman, who was in the jury room more than an hour preceding Wilentz, did not comment, and the nature of his testimony was not disclosed.

When the jury recessed for lunch it had heard three witnesses, the third having been Dr. Carroll T. Jones, superintendent of the hospital for the feeble minded where Wendel spent several weeks prior to his being brought here late Saturday night and charged with the baby murder.

Awaits Jury's Action
With the statement by the attorney general that the jury did not appear near completion of its inquiry, the belief that Hauptmann would again escape the chair tomorrow night was greatly strengthened.

Col. Mark O. Kimberling, prison warden, said today that if the Mercer county grand jury delays action in the Wendel case beyond the end of this week, he would seek "legal advice" as to whether to stay the execution.

"I'll cross that bridge when I come to it," he added.
The condemned Lindbergh baby killer was alternately depressed and cheerful, following a long and restless sleep.

'Ifs' Hold Key to Hauptmann's Date
With Death

TRENTON, N. J., April 2. (AP)—There are some big "ifs" in the question of Bruno Richard Hauptmann's life or death.
If legal proceedings or a reprieve delay execution beyond the end of the present week, Hauptmann will live for at least one month more.

New Jersey law directs an execution take place during a specified week, which in Hauptmann's case is the "week of March 30."

Colonel Kimberling might delay the execution until Saturday midnight—or until Sunday midnight if the court so directs—but he will need a new order to delay the execution beyond that date.

A new order, under the law, must set a date sometime between four and eight weeks after signing. It was such a technicality that extended Gov. Harold C. Hoffman's first 30-day reprieve into a nine weeks stay of execution.

Hauptmann's immediate concern is to get by "the week of March 30." He is counting the hours not only until 8 p. m. Friday, but also from then until the end of the week.

Take Vacation

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 2. (AP)—The boys were away on spring vacations, so their parents—nearly 75 of them—moved into Harvard to find out for themselves for four days what this college life is like.
The parents, guests at Lowell House of Prof. Julian Lowell Coolidge, were to sleep in dormitories, eat in their sons' dining hall and relax in the athletic building gym.
Oh, yes, they planned to hear two lectures daily, too.

'I'll See You Again,' Says Hauptmann as Wife Visits Cell

TRENTON, N. J., April 2. (AP)—Anna Hauptmann, after spending almost an hour with her husband in the death house, today expressed confidence she would again see him alive.

Obviously in better spirits than she was yesterday, she smiled cheerfully and said, "Yes, I do," when asked if she thought there would be other visits.

Her face was drawn yesterday after she told the man condemned for the Lindbergh kidnap-murder that his new death date was set for tomorrow night. She will not be permitted to see him again unless something intervenes to set back the execution date, as prison rules forbid family visits on the same day.

Col. Mark O. Kimberling, keeper of the prison, said Bruno and his wife exchanged no farewells.
"I'll see you again," Hauptmann told his wife when he visited ended.

RELIEF RIOT IN
L. A. THWARTED

LOS ANGELES, April 2. (AP)—A relief riot occurred at the Los Angeles county relief administration headquarters today when about 40 men tried to call on Harold E. Pomeroy, assistant director, in a body. Police ejected them.

Voicing demands for "justice," the group started manning upstairs to the second floor where an interview with Pomeroy had been arranged. Two assistants in the office tried to halt the men, saying only six men at a time would be permitted to present complaints to Pomeroy.

The crowd jeered and there were cries of "push those guys over." The assistants were brushed aside and the men rushed on upstairs. They were milling about demanding an interview when police riot squads arrived and brusquely escorted them to the street.

Three Women Off
To Prison Today

LOS ANGELES, April 2. (AP)—Sheriff's deputies started by automobile today for the women's prison at Tehachapi, taking three women prisoners.
They are Hazel Belford Giah, sentenced to seven years to life imprisonment for forgery and for the second degree murder of her husband in 1928; Mrs. Frances Willys, sentenced to one to 10 years for the hammer slaying of Dr. Walter Forest Hammond; and Mrs. Berdie Brockman, sentenced to one to 50 years for attempting to poison her son-in-law, James Burnett.

SANTA BARBARA, April 2. (AP)—The Kinkajou, $25,000 pleasure yacht owned by Donald Douglas, wealthy Santa Monica airplane manufacturer, wrecked yesterday at Pelican bay, Santa Cruz island, was surveyed by a salvage crew today.

The sides of the 40-ton auxiliary schooner yacht type craft were caved in by rocks. Douglas and a party of 10 reached shore safely and returned to their homes late last night.

WPA RANKS
IS DENIED

Young Democrats Offer
Reimbursement on Any
'Forced Tickets'

Anyone who bought a ticket under pressure for the recent fund raising dinner staged by Young Democrats of Orange county can get his money back by signing a statement that he was coerced into the deal. Stanley Clem, president of the organization, made this offer today. He defied W. Maxwell Burke to prove his statement of yesterday that Works Progress administration employees were virtually compelled to buy tickets to the affair.

"I would not go so far as to say that Mr. Burke had deliberately misrepresented," said Mr. Clem, "but I do say positively that he is misinformed or is deliberately trying to destroy party adhesion."

Tells Party Purpose
Mr. Burke is executive secretary of the Epic Democrats of Orange county.

The purpose of the Democratic party is to re-elect Franklin Roosevelt, and Mr. Burke knows full well that Epic leaders are of the same mind as other Democratic clubs, and why should he try to bring about discord can be explained only by the fact that he is either not a Democrat or is trying to defeat the very thing which his party stands for," said Mr. Clem.

Reiterates Denial
"I deny emphatically that anyone was forced to buy a ticket and defy Mr. Burke to prove it."

"Instructions were given that no person should be asked to purchase a ticket that he felt he could not well afford. I know of numerous instances where individuals were advised not to buy a ticket because of the fact that they had jobs which would not justify such an outlay of cash, and I personally will see that anyone who was sold a ticket under circumstances such as Mr. Burke describes is refunded his money if he will call at 216 West Third street and sign such a statement."

"I know there are bound to be people who have tried to be political powers in this community and failed, who will try to stir up trouble in the ranks of Democrats and destroy the good relationship of friends if they can. They cannot offer any good reason for such tactics except obvious 'sore-head' denunciations, and it is unfortunate that Mr. Burke has taken it upon himself to write such an article."

Head Comments
Horace Head, veteran Democrat and chairman of the Orange County Democratic committee formed last night, said today that to the best of his information, no coercion was used.

"I personally had nothing to do with arrangements for the banquet or the sale of tickets," he said. "I bought a ticket and attended. I think a majority of those who attended had nothing to do with the WPA or federal projects, although there were some present who did."

"I have been told no one was even solicited for such purchase who was working for the government, unless they were in condition to enable them to buy tickets. Also I have been told some few who applied were told they were not on obligation and were not earning enough to buy tickets."

Others Tell Views
Robert Mize, prominent local Democrat, said, "The only thing I could say is that this is the first time I ever heard of it."

Martell Thompson of Orange, prominent in the Young Democrats organization, remarked, "I personally sold tickets and I sold them to no one under pressure. The people I sold to were happy to buy them. I think Mr. Burke's statement was unwarranted and unfounded."

Paul Dale, Santa Ana, another Young Democrat, said that "we sold tickets and did not force anyone to buy them. As a matter of fact many people asked for them. I do not believe there was any pressure used on anyone."

Post in August

Thomas L. McFadden, Anaheim and Placentia attorney, started his race for the state senate today. Mr. McFadden made a public announcement of his candidacy and will seek the nomination at the August primary election. Senator N. T. Edwards of Orange announced some time ago that he will not seek re-election as Orange county's representative in the senate.

Native of County
Mr. McFadden maintains his office at Anaheim. He was born in Orange county and has lived the greater part of his life at Placentia, where he now makes his home. He received his education in the public schools of Orange county, and was graduated from the Stanford university law school in 1902.

From 1903 to 1912 Mr. McFadden practiced law at Bellingham, Wash., and for four years was city attorney there. At present he is city attorney of Placentia, in which capacity he keeps intimately in touch with problems confronting the municipalities. In 1920 he became associated with H. G. Ames in practicing law at Anaheim.

Owens Citrus Property
He has taken a keen interest in the county's agricultural problems and is the owner of citrus property.

Mr. McFadden's record of civic activity includes holding the position of exalted ruler of the Anaheim Elks lodge, district deputy of the southern district of that order, presidency of the Orange County Bar association and the Anaheim Rotary club.

Mr. McFadden has always been a Republican.

Opportunities for young men in Citizens Conservation corps camps are better than ever, it was announced today by Mrs. Belle Spangler of the county welfare office, as a quota of 86 was given to Orange county in the new CCC enrollment period starting yesterday.

Mrs. Spangler has been designated enrolling officer for Orange county, under Welfare Director Byron Curry. She said the enrollment period is from April 1 to 15. She urged eligible young men of Orange county to apply for CCC membership.

Clements' Letter Is
Read by Sullivan

WASHINGTON, April 2. (AP)—An assertion—immediately denied—that 99 per cent of the advertising in the Townsend National Weekly was of products for the "treatment of the ills of the aged," was made today before a house investigating committee.

Robert E. Clements, resigned national secretary of the Townsend old age pension organization, denied the "99 per cent" statement by James R. Sullivan, committee counsel, but did agree the paper carried "some patent medicine advertising."

Remarkable Cures
Sullivan read the high amusement of the committee and spectators a series of advertisements from the Townsend weekly which made claims to remarkable cures.

Clements, who said the weekly's receipts were from $500 to $600 a week in March, 1935, testified he opposed insertion of some types of advertising "because they were offensive," but denied the assertion of Representative Ditter (R., Pa.) that Dr. F. E. Townsend, as a medical man, indorsed any of the cures advertised.

Townsend Uses Tablets
Sullivan brought out in later questioning that Dr. Townsend was a user of a certain tablet advertised in the weekly.

Sullivan read a part of a letter from Clements to C. D. Cerf, advertising manager of the weekly, in which he said "I wonder how much they would pay us if we said Dr. Townsend is never without the tablets and attributes his ability to speak long and often to them."

Clements testified, under questioning, he was merely attempting (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 4)

Court Upholds
Stone Conviction

SAN FRANCISCO, April 2. (AP)—The California supreme court today affirmed the death sentence for Elton M. Stone, 31-year-old confessed murderer of 14-year-old Louise Clements of Fresno.

In unanimous one-page opinion the court ruled: "We deem it unnecessary under the circumstances to detail the evidence. Suffice it to say we have read the testimony, including a full and apparently complete confession by the defendant."

It demonstrates beyond question that the defendant is guilty of a deliberate and premeditated killing of a high school girl in Fresno under peculiarly aggravated circumstances."

Orange Grove on
Laguna Road Sold

Sale of a five-acre orange grove and home on Laguna road near Red Hill was reported today. The purchase was made by W. C. Peruzzi, field superintendent of the Tustin Hills Citrus association, the price being approximately $11,000. A large part of the consideration was in cash.

The purchase was made from R. P. Padias. Mr. Padias is a bean grower on the Irvine ranch, where he operates extensively.

He also said the shipment to Italy was forbidden by President Roosevelt's executive order of Sept. 25, 1935, and the longshoremen would load the iron only on assurance from Secretary of State Cordell Hull that it is not contraband under the President's order.

New War Profits
Plan Is Proposed

WASHINGTON, April 2. (AP)—A modified proposal for taking the profits out of war was sent to the senate finance committee today as a substitute for the munitions committee's drastic plan to levy a 99 per cent tax on all war-time profits over $10,000 a year.

The committee gathered to determine whether it wanted to approve the munitions committee program or draft the substitute designed to tax only excess war profits.

This substitute would levy the 99 per cent tax upon all abnormal war profits, instead of upon all income above $10,000 a year.

Faith in Townsend
Expressed Here

By ROCH BRADSHAW

Startling revelations in the congressional investigation of the Townsend movement at Washington have only renewed the faith of Orange county Townsend leaders in the soundness of the plan and the integrity of its originator, Dr. F. E. Townsend.

Despite personal quarrels among the "big shots" at Washington—despite Representative John Steven McGroarty's charge that Dr. Townsend "talks like a fool"—and despite the revelation of Dr. Townsend's letter in which he wrote, "there's millions in it," local leaders were behind the plan stronger than ever today. Their faith in their leader was unshaken. They don't believe he's in the movement for personal gain.

The "millions in it" remark of Dr. Townsend was quoted from a letter to Robert E. Clements, resigned secretary of the movement, and was produced in the house investigation of the movement and its leaders.

"I wouldn't believe it unless I saw the letter," said E. G. Warner, leader in Townsend club No. 11 and former mayor of Santa Ana.

Fred Vollmer, member of the Townsend congressional board, authorized Townsend speaker and president of Townsend club No. 9, said, "We know Dr. Townsend is giving 90 per cent of the Townsend Weekly proceeds to the movement. I'd like to see leaders of the two major parties match that. The people as a whole are back of Dr. Townsend and his plan. They don't want a change."

"I don't believe Dr. Townsend is in the movement for the money he could get out of it," (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 2)

ARMORIES UP TO CONGRESS

Morehead Tells Status
Of Three Projects
In This County

The fate of Santa Ana's National Guard armory project rested today in the hands of congress. The same was true of similar projects at Anaheim and Orange, the Associated Press reported.

At Washington Adjutant General Harry H. Morehead of California said this state's chances of obtaining $2,500,000 for 26 armories appeared to be entirely in the hands of congress. He said an attempt probably will be made to have $75,000,000 of the administration's proposed new $1,500,000,000 relief fund earmarked for armories. If this fails, he said, the California program apparently will have to be abandoned.

Santa Ana, Orange and Anaheim all were ready to go ahead with the government's original proposal to finance construction of armories costing $70,000 to $80,000, with the cities furnishing the sites. Later it developed that the government was considering asking the cities to put up 10 per cent of the construction cost.

The project then lapsed into a state of inactivity.

After conferences with congressmen at Washington today, Adjutant General Morehead said he had returned to California.

Refuse to Load
Iron for Italy

SAN FRANCISCO, April 2. (AP)—Longshoremen today refused to load 15 tons of scrap iron on the Italian freighter Fella, contending it was destined to be manufactured into munitions in Italy.

Harry Bridges, president of the International Longshoremen's association local, immediately telegraphed to Secretary of State Cordell Hull, saying "This cargo is a donation from the San Francisco colony to the Italian Red Cross," and asked Hull to rule on whether the cargo was contraband.

He also said the shipment to Italy was forbidden by President Roosevelt's executive order of Sept. 25, 1935, and the longshoremen would load the iron only on assurance from Secretary of State Cordell Hull that it is not contraband under the President's order.

AAA HEARING
NEARS END

Legality of State Act
Challenged Today by Placentia Packers

Attorneys for Wither Brothers Packing house, Placentia, defendants in a hearing to show cause why an order restraining them from further shipping of fruit should not be issued, today challenged the constitutionality of the California Agricultural administration, under which the orange prorate is operated.

The Placentia firm admitted it had shipped oranges without applying to the state agricultural administration for a prorate base, or for a license. It challenged the constitutionality of the "Little AAA" as an unlawful delegation of authority.

Question Authority
Defense attorneys S. B. Kauffman and Ervin H. Haas also questioned the right of the state director of agriculture to impose penalties for failing to comply with provisions of the state agricultural code, as "a further assumption of authority without delegation."

Action was first brought early in February against the packing company, and Presiding Judge G. K. Scovel issued a temporary restraining order which is still in effect, pending a formal court hearing. The action, which was brought by District Attorney W. F. Menton, is designed to test the validity of the intrastate shipping prorate.

May End Today
It was expected that the hearing, being conducted before Superior Judge James L. Allen, would be concluded some time late this afternoon.

Appearing for the state are Deputy District Attorney Preston Turner and associates, I. G. McDaniel and A. D. Hadley, representing the growers' advisory committee to the California agricultural commission. County Supervisor LeRoy Lyons is a member of the committee from Orange county.

SAN PEDRO, April 2. (AP)—Coast guard headquarters said today an amphibian airplane piloted by Lieut. S. D. The boat left here last Friday for San Clemente island fishing grounds and has not been heard from.

Property Damage Totals
Million Dollars With Hundreds Injured

CORDELE, Ga., April 2. (AP)—A tornado and rain storms killed an estimated 40 persons in the Southeast today, and caused more than $1,000,000 property damage, with the major loss centered at this south Georgia city.

"At least 33 were killed in Cordele," City Manager John Brown said, "eight white persons and 25 Negroes."

Rescue agencies swung into action immediately, proceeding to the scene by train and over rain-drenched highways.

Seven storm deaths were reported elsewhere in Georgia, Alabama and South Carolina.

A new baseball stadium, dedicated only yesterday amid shouts and cheers of a throng, was converted into a hospital to take care of those unable to find room at other Cordele hospitals.

R. L. Dekle, an undertaker, said seven bodies had been taken from splintered homes.
"Ambulances, trucks and other motor vehicles are being pressed into service to bring in the dead, injured and dying."

"From the appearance of the mangled victims, it is amazing that the death toll is as low as it has been."

Two infantry companies and five doctors of the Georgia national guard were dispatched to Cordele by orders of Gov. Eugene Talmadge to provide for the refugees and aid the injured.

Besides the number estimated by Brown to have been killed here, other deaths were reported as follows:

Lee county, Whitefield county, Terrell county, one each; Wilkes county, two; near Hampton, S. C., one; and Gordo, Ala., one.

The dead in Cordele, as reported by Brown, Dekle and others:

Bill Braswell, 43, oil company employee.
Mrs. W. F. Mims.
Mrs. Paul Lewis, 45, wife of a farmer at Tenia, near here.
L. J. Crozier, 60, workman.
W. T. Stephens, 60, workman.
Two unidentified white men.
Unidentified white woman.
Twenty-five Negroes.

C. A. Pound of the Cordele Dispatch, after a tour of the finest residential section, said 25 of the best homes were "splintered by the wind, just as if a big charge of dynamite had been exploded in them."

City Manager Brown estimated the injured at "between 300 and 400 persons."

An increase of 2 cents on first and second line gasolines and 2½ cents on third grade gasolines went into effect today in the entire Pacific coast territory, according to an Associated Press dispatch from San Francisco. In Santa Ana, the new prices of 17½ cents for first grade gasoline, 15½ cents for second grade gas and 14 cents for third grade gasoline went into effect this morning.

In Santa Ana, all major companies have adopted the new price schedule. Independent companies have not as yet advanced their prices, it was learned. The action taken by the major companies followed an announcement of increases in prices made yesterday by the Standard Oil company of California.

Spreckels Sends
Daughter $25,000
For Her Birthday

LOS ANGELES, April 2. (AP)—S. S. Hahn, attorney for Mrs. Roxana Spreckels, said today he received a telegram from John D. Spreckels, 3rd, sugar family scion, promising a $25,000 birthday gift for the Spreckels' baby daughter.

This came after attorneys for the estranged couple disclosed in court records of their reopened divorce suit that they made long and futile efforts to reconcile the young couple.

"We found the reconciliation was absolutely out of the question," Hahn told Superior Judge Robert M. Clarke. "We tried for three days to work out their problems of this young couple, but we are convinced that they could never live together again as man and wife."

Judge Clarke took the case under advisement.

ITALY'S ARMY FACES SELASSIE'S FORCES FOR 'DEATH BATTLE'

HAILE BEATEN IN ALL-DAY STRUGGLE

BULLETIN
ADDIS ABABA, April 2. (P) The Ethiopian government formally denied today Rome reports that it had opened peace negotiations with Marshal Pietro Badoglio, Italian commander in chief, or with the Italian government.

By EDWARD J. NEIL
(Copyright, 1936, by Associated Press)
ASMARA, Eritrea, April 1. (By wire to Rome, April 2.)—Italy's northern army and the personal troops of Emperor Haile Selassie maneuvered carefully today toward what was considered the impending death struggle of the war in Ethiopia.

The little rainy season, which had already begun locally in various sectors of the northern front, finally set in with characteristic African viciousness, but military authorities asserted the heavy downpour would not retard operations.

Selassie Withdraws
The Ethiopian emperor withdrew his forces to the heights overlooking Lake Ashangi, 30 miles south of Amba Alaji, to await the second phase of the decisive encounter—expected to be an attack by the army of Marshal Pietro Badoglio.

Emperor Haile Selassie himself launched what was believed to be the opening move of the climatic struggle on the northern front yesterday, throwing 20,000 of the finest troops of his bodyguard at the left Italian flank, just north of Lake Ashangi.

Loses All-Day Battle
The emperor's attempt to split the two invading army corps failed, the Italian headquarters said, but only after an all-day battle, marked by a terrific attack and counter-attack near the Macin river, eight miles north of the lake.

The Italian command estimated that 7000 Ethiopians were killed in the fighting from dawn to dusk before the imperial bodyguard retreated. Unofficial reports said 16 Italian officers, 300 white soldiers of the Fascist first army corps and 74 native Eritrean Askari were killed.

BRITISH CONCERN OVER LAKE TANA NOTED
LONDON, April 2. (P)—British concern over the Italian advance almost to the shores of Lake Tana—the source of supply of the Nile—was evident in Whitehall today.

No official source was willing to say whether the British had yet made any representations on the subject to Rome. However, it was believed possible the British, who are showing increasing signs of irritation toward Italy because of the airplane bombings of Ethiopian civil centers and the reported use of poison gas, may instruct Sir Eris Drummond, the British ambassador to Rome, to call Mussolini's attention to these Italian commitments at Lake Tana.

The British government, authoritative sources said, was forwarding letters to France and Belgium, assuring them that if conciliation failed in the Rhineland crisis, Britain would come to their aid under the Locarno pact.

FLANDIN CALLS AIDES FOR RALLY IN PARIS
(Copyright, 1936, by Associated Press)
PARIS, April 2.—France massed her diplomatic resources today for a counter-attack against Germany's Locarno pact.

Foreign Minister Pierre-Etienne Flandin summoned the French ambassadors in London, Berlin, Brussels and Rome to come to Paris for a two-fold campaign.

First, informed sources said, the government resolved to present a strong attitude against Germany's violation of the Locarno pact until after France's parliamentary elections April 26 and May 3. Second, the government would employ tactics of delay while searching for a more favorable peace plan.

P. O. RECEIPTS SET RECORD

The Santa Ana postoffice established a new record for first quarter receipts this year, with stamp sales totaling $38,860.50, it was announced today by Acting Postmaster Frank Harwood. The highest previous first quarter was in 1931, when receipts from Jan. 1 to March 31 amounted to $33,208.43.

The first quarter of 1935 was surpassed by more than $2000 by the quarter ending March 31 of this year. Receipts for the first quarter of 1935 were $36,809.17.

MORE ABOUT PENSION FAITH

said J. H. Nicholson, vice president of club No. 8. "He's heart and soul in the movement. And neither Dr. Townsend nor Mr. Clements wants to be president. They told me so at the Chicago convention."

W. A. Zimmerman, authorized Townsend speaker, said, "I think when the thing is sifted down, you'll find the letter means there are millions of people in the movement. I don't think Dr. Townsend was referring to millions of dollars. I've got lots of faith in Dr. Townsend."

"I don't know what to think about McGroarty's remarks," said Mr. Warner, in referring to the former's statement that Dr. Townsend "talks like a fool."

A speaker here a week ago Saturday said there was only one man who could kill the Townsend bill. McGroarty introduced the bill in congress. He could withdraw it and set us back 18 months."

"I don't know whether these reports are true or not, and I can't pass an opinion on his remarks," said Mr. Vollmer.

"Maybe A Joke"
Mr. Zimmerman said that "I'm wondering how much of that is true. The fact is that Mr. McGroarty has the Townsend plan well in hand and at heart. Sometimes men say things in a joking way."

Mr. Nicholson said he believes the apparent difference between Mr. McGroarty and Dr. Townsend is based on the latter's leanings toward the Republican party.

"They really are not at odds," he said. "There's lots of propaganda. The capitalists don't want to let the working class get out from under their thumbs. They're afraid the common people will get too independent."

They're Pulling Votes
"Naturally Dr. Townsend is a Republican. He was pulling Republican support as well as Clements was pulling from the Democratic party."

In regard to the resignation of Mr. Clements as secretary of the movement, Mr. Warner said, "Basing my opinion on what was said in the Washington Merry-Go-Round in The Journal, it looks like Clements got what was coming to him."

On Monday in The Journal the Washington Merry-Go-Round said Clements did not resign voluntarily, but was forcibly ousted. The article said politics and a red-headed woman, Clements' wife, figured in the maneuvers that ended in his resignation.

"They'll Patch It Up"
"The rift between Dr. Townsend and Mr. Clements doesn't amount to much," said Mr. Nicholson. "I think they'll patch up their differences."

"Gilmour Young of San Francisco has taken Mr. Clements' place and is a very competent man," said Mr. Vollmer. "We don't believe it will make any difference in the movement."

Mr. Zimmerman recalled that "Since the resignation, we never have had such attendance at local Townsend meetings. The investigation has been a wholesome thing for the whole movement. If there is really any disagreement, we'd like to know about it."

high school buildings were practically destroyed," he said, "but luckily the blow struck before the hour for school to start."

The twister hit the southwestern part of town, populated mostly by Negroes, and ripped through town toward the northeast. There was little damage in the business section, the tragedy having taken its major toll in the residential areas.

The tornadoes came with heavy rains, which raised southeastern rivers to threatening proportions.

Mrs. Willie McColl, 25, was killed and five persons were injured by a twister which cut a path 200 yards wide across Hannah's church community north of Gordo, Ala.

Will Hawkins, a Negro, was killed and several homes and large warehouses were destroyed at the village of Sasser, in Terrell county, Georgia.

To the east, business buildings and homes were damaged by a storm at the village of Vidalia. Two persons were injured.

Destruction of communication wires by falling trees hampered the work of checking the toll.

Floods Expected
The weather bureau warned that floods were to be expected in all the rivers of Georgia, South Carolina and North Carolina. Waters rose also in the Tennessee river.

The Cordele dispatch, reporting an area of about eight blocks devastated in that city, said the death toll might exceed 20.

The dispatch estimated the wind at times reached a velocity of 90 to 95 miles an hour.

Four or five persons were believed buried under debris of Mrs. W. I. Harris' grocery store, which was demolished.

Dr. C. E. McArthur of the Cordele hospital staff said at least 25 or 30 injured persons had been taken there and that a Negro hospital had at least that many more victims. He said ambulances were bringing in additional patients as rapidly as they could get through storm-littered streets.

The storm wrecked two large school buildings, but they were struck before the students had arrived.

MORE ABOUT TOWNSEND

levity and the letter was facetious. He added, however, that Dr. Townsend did use the tablets in question.

Clements testified the paper owned by himself and Dr. Townsend had a circulation of about 100,000.

Under questioning by Sullivan, it was brought out the papers were charged to Townsend clubs at three cents a copy, but there was no return of any copies.

Sullivan opened today's questioning of Clements with an inquiry into events in connection with the incorporation of the Prosperity Publishing Co., publisher of the Townsend National Weekly.

Clements testified he and Dr. Townsend, together with an attorney, Clyde Doyle, incorporated the company.

Sullivan brought out that the Townsend Weekly was preceded by the "Modern Crusader," of which C. J. McDonald was editor. Clements conceded differences between McDonald on one side and himself and Dr. Townsend on the other brought about the dissolution.

The witness said he and Dr. Townsend thought they owned the paper, and McDonald thought he owned it.

Clements testified the "Modern Crusader" had a subscription list of between 4000 and 5000 and labelled as "ridiculous and untrue" McDonald's assertion that Dr. Townsend "stole" the list.

One Cent 'Cut'
He denied the paper was financed by Old Age Revolving Pension, Ltd., as indicated by Sullivan and estimated "less than $250" was put into the weekly at the beginning.

The weekly, Clements said, was sent out to clubs on the order of some individual member. Sullivan's questions disclosed that Townsend and area managers received a one cent "cut" out of the three cents charged by the Prosperity Publishing company.

Clements testified Representative McGroarty (D., Calif.), ordered 3500 copies of his bill embodying the Townsend plan, from the government printing office. He said these copies were distributed free to Townsend clubs and McGroarty was reimbursed for the cost of printing and the regular charge paid.

Representative Gavagan (D., N. Y.), said he considered McGroarty had "abused his congressional privileges."

Chairman Bell (D., Mo.), and Representatives Hollister (R., Ohio), and Hoffman (R., Mich.), disagreed. They said if the copies were distributed free McGroarty was within his rights.

Returning to the weekly, Sullivan contended 99 per cent of the advertising represented products for "treatment of ills of the aged."

Bell brought out Dr. Townsend was held up to Townsend clubs as "an eminent physician."

Sullivan read several patent medicine ads from the Townsend weekly.

Clements said he had declared "a b o o" all advertisements which mentioned "gland rejuvenation, or get married at 120 and enjoy life after 40."

The committee and the spectators joined in the laughter as Sullivan continued reading into the

HORACE HEAD ELECTED BY DEMOCRATS

The Orange county Democratic committee was organized and received its charter last night from the California Assembly of Democrats, Inc. The ceremony took place at the Green Cat cafe, where Horace Head, veteran Santa Ana Democrat, was elected chairman.

Today the policy of the organization was announced. It is to "contribute to the growth and influence of the Democratic party and to promote and maintain harmony."

John Strickland, Fullerton, was named vice chairman; Joe Peterson, Orange, was named secretary; and D. W. Huston, Huntington Beach, treasurer. Officers were elected for two years.

The organizing committee consists of five men from each supervisorial district. Those in the first district are H. C. Head, C. Harold Dale, Frank Harwood, Guy Richards and Stanley Clem, all of Santa Ana. In the second district the committeemen are D. W. Huston, Vern Keller and John Africa, Huntington Beach; Dr. C. C. Viollet, Garden Grove and Judge W. H. Bentley, Westminster.

Third district committeemen are John Strickland, Fullerton; Louis Hoskins and Steve Gallagher, Anaheim; Ben Sconce, Cypress; and Dan Henry, Atwood. Committeemen in the fourth district are O. M. Roddeck, Orlean Sisson and Joe Peterson, Orange; Walter Atkinson, Villa Park; and Jack Fletcher, El Modena. Those in the fifth district are George W. Horner, Newport Beach; Clyde Baxter, San Clemente; Sam Long, Tustin; Carl Romer, San Juan Capistrano; and Harry Rider, Balboa Island.

Hauck said five men visited the estate yesterday in defiance of demands by Lyons that they get out. When they left, Hauck said, they drove their car so the caretaker was forced to leap from its path or be run down.

An effort to learn from the state motor vehicle department who owned the car in which the five intruders rode was met with the statement Governor Hoffman had taken the record of registration from there, and it could be obtained only from him.

The increasing belief "something would happen to prevent the execution, already thrice delayed, was based on these developments:

1. The possibility the grand jury would indict Wendel for the murder, thus casting such doubt upon Hauptmann's conviction for the crime as to bring about a delay in his execution.

2. The fact Governor Hoffman, who already has once reprieved Hauptmann, is showing increasing activity in the case which he said will not be solved by putting to death of the Bronx carpenter.

3. The statement of Col. Mark O. Kimberling, prison warden, that he will delay the execution to the limit of his authority as long as any legal action affecting the Lindbergh case is pending.

4. The fact other so-called "new evidence," such as the story of Stephen Spitz that he possesses Lindbergh ransom notes which he bought from persons other than Hauptmann, remains to be inquired into. Reports from Chicago today said the money to pay the fine necessary to obtain Spitz's release from jail (where he was serving a sentence on a bad check charge) was furnished by Governor Hoffman himself. The amount was $892, the balance of a $1000 fine.

5. The further fact that Governor Hoffman is so definitely committed to obtaining a "complete solution" of the entire case, many believe he will find some way to delay the execution.

records advertisements claiming unusual cures.

"Married at 120"
Clements appeared uninterested as Sullivan continued his reading of the advertisements, including one addressed to "All Townsendites" on "How to live to be 100" and "Married at 120."

Sullivan read a letter from Clements to C. D. Cerf, advertising manager, referring to the patent medicine advertisement in which Clements said he had never taken any of the tablets in question, but Dr. Townsend "says the tablets have cured me of everything and eats them by the handful."

The letter said further "he wondered how much they would pay us if we said Dr. Townsend is never without the tablets and attributes his ability to speak long and often because of them."

"Just for fun," Sullivan read from the letter, "I'll run one with a naked woman in it."

Clements said the letter was "facetious" and human forms were never permitted in advertisements.

Easter School Vacation Is 'Just Around the Corner'

Vacation days are here again, and hundreds of school children in Orange county are laying plans today to make the most of the week's Easter vacation that starts Saturday.

Little Willie Doolittle can sleep just as late as he wants to for a whole week—seven days during which he won't have to listen to his teacher lecture on how to make seven go into a dozen, or how "Columbus sailed the ocean blue in fourteen hundred and ninety-two."

The only thing that bothers Little Willie is the fact that this vacation, like everything else, must come to an end. He will have to start classes again on Monday, April 13—unlucky 13.

HANSON WINS IN RECALL

SANTA BARBARA, April 2. (P) Mayor E. O. Hanson kept his office today, winner in a recall election that removed four foes from the Santa Barbara city council.

A clear majority voted yesterday against ousting the militant, white-haired mayor, whose first act after inauguration last June 1 was to dismiss the police chief.

Councilmen Jesse Wootton, jr., William Common, Taylor McDougall and Charles Andera, who supported the Hanson recall movement, were themselves removed by Santa Barbara voters.

Their posts will be filled at a special election, whose date will be fixed later by the council. Two members were not involved.

Hanson, brother of Ole Hanson, former mayor of Seattle, was accused by opponents of "unfitness for office" and "accomplishing nothing" with his administration.

His supporters charged the councilmanic foursome with "failure to cooperate" with the mayor.

KIWANIAN IN 'FOOLISH DAY'

"Within a year, the United States will be at war with Italy, and in all probability there will not be any other countries involved."

This prediction was made yesterday by Arthur Casey, speaker at the Kiwanis club. Mr. Casey laid a foundation for this prediction by saying that in the near future America will start exporting live-stock into Ethiopia. This, he said, will be resented by Mussolini, and what he does in retaliation will undoubtedly result in a fight involving America.

"We are fully prepared to fight any country," Mr. Casey said. "The number of men we have in the standing army doesn't mean as much as does the fact that we are more scientific-minded. The country with the most scientific minds probably will win the war. Just as an example, scientists recently discovered a bug in the United States that is being cultured to combat Black Widows. This bug will tend to keep Black Widows from increasing in number."

"As a result of the war in Ethiopia, nearly 100,000 men have been killed. Since the United States has always come to the rescue of

TAX PLAN IS RAPPED AS UNSOUND

WASHINGTON, April 2. (P)—American business, represented by the National Association of Manufacturers, assailed the new $799,000,000 tax program before the house ways and means committee today as "a new share-the-wealth proposal in disguise."

Noel Sargent, secretary of the organization, suggested congress postpone action on a "completely unsound" tax plan that he said would stimulate speculation, penalize group thrift and cause many bankruptcies, and in the meantime create a special commission to determine what changes are needed in existing tax policies.

"We submit," Sargent said, "that a tax program which penalizes and discourages the retention of adequate funds for working capital is completely unsound; that not only would this pending measure tend to reduce working capital, as well as reserves, but it would tend to prevent accumulation of increased working capital needed to provide for increased work and employment."

Sargent agreed the new tax plan would tend to force distribution of corporation earnings in dividends, but asserted the results would be "harmful instead of beneficial."

Sargent recommended repeal of the present capital gains and losses tax as it is "an unproductive drawback to trade and employment."

Legion Chief Sees War for Europe

LOS ANGELES, April 2. (P)—Ray Murphy, national commander of the American Legion, declared today on his arrival here that "war in Europe is inevitable within the next 12 months."

Murphy added that unless the United States maintains a strict neutrality there is grave danger of this nation being drawn into the conflict.

"I believe that Japan and Russia will be involved in a major conflict before the end of 1936, but if the American Legion has any power to avert it, this nation will not find itself in another war."

the oppressed, we probably will start expelling these newly discovered bugs to Ethiopia in an effort to put an end to the increasing number of black widows left by the Ethiopian soldiers killed in battle."

Well, it was all in fun, for it was April Fool's day. The speaker didn't really think America would soon be involved in combat with Italy.

The club members were startled during the introduction of the speaker when Sergt. Nels Nelson, Santa Ana police department, sneaked up behind Ed Elstrom, slipped a pair of handcuffs on the culprit, and left him with his arms around a post. The complaint, according to the officer, was signed by Mae West. The prisoner was released after Ray Raddant posted one dollar bail.

The Sidewalk Spectator:

To The Journal:—Yesterday brought us two items of interest, each related to the other.

The first reported the new registration figure at 60,015. The second informed us that the board of supervisors had adopted a resolution naming 1936 election officials, which suggests

TODAY'S MATHEMATICAL PROBLEM

Divide 60,015 by 1666. The answer is 36.

Which means that if all of the 60,015 eligible persons were to vote, there would be one election official for every 36 rubber stamp users.

Perhaps a more correct figure would be 50 per cent of the people voting (still high, but we'll use it), which would give us one official for every 18 persons.

Now, if the polls are open 7 a. m. to 7 p. m., we have 12 hours, or an average of 1.5 v.p.h. (voters per hour) for each official.

Doesn't look like anyone will die of overwork, does it?

Calculatingly yours,
GLENN L. THORNE,

TALL MAN WHO SOUGHT LOAN HERE IS SOUGHT

Santa Ana police last night searched through the business district for a man described as being six feet, 10 inches tall, weighing about 190 pounds and approximately 40 years of age. He was last seen at the Givens and Cannon drug store, Fourth and Ross streets, by Charles Givens, proprietor of the pharmacy.

According to Mr. Givens, this unusually tall individual came to the drug store and asked Mr. Givens to lend him $11.

"I have to have it to get a trunk out of lock," he is reported to have told Mr. Givens. "My trunk is in a hotel down here, and I can't get it unless I pay $11. I sure would like to get it because I have a bunch of diamonds in it."

Mr. Givens called police, but the man had left in a car before they arrived. Mr. Givens told officers he believed the man was an ex-prize fighter. He also said the mystery man told him he was wanted in Georgia, but failed to say what he was wanted for.

COTTON CANDY TRICK WORKS WPA Workers Victims Here

Local Boy Returns

Jack J. Rimel, above, graduate of Santa Ana High school and junior college, has returned to Santa Ana after living in Pasadena for three years, and has opened law offices here at 310 North Main street. Mr. Rimel, a member of the Santa Ana Junior college championship football team of 1929, graduated from that school in 1930, later receiving his A. B. degree at Pomona college and his law degree at the U. S. C. school of law. He passed his state bar examination in September, 1935.

OREGON WOMAN SUCCUMBS HERE

Mrs. Clara Agnes Burkholder, mother of Charles S. Burkholder of Santa Ana, died yesterday in St. Joseph's hospital. The 68-year-old woman and her daughter, Miss Belle Burkholder, came here from Cottage Grove, Ore., in October, 1935, to visit Mr. Burkholder.

Funeral services and burial will take place in Cottage Grove, Ore. The Winbiger mortuary, 609 North Main street, will send the body north tomorrow.

The old cotton candy trick still works.

Several folks at the Works Progress administration office here proved this conclusively yesterday when they bit into pieces of "rubber candy" offered to them by Hazel V. Ryan, WPA secretary.

H. G. Wetherell, auditor, was one of the early victims. He did not tell anyone else about his experience, and so several more folks tried their luck, too.

Among these was Ruth Showalter, secretary in the safety department. Max Norman, office boy, wasn't left out.

It was a matter of luck because the candy maker had put several bona fide pieces in the box. Isabelle Long, Agnes White, Claire Fordor and Angie Le Gages got good pieces.

Kemp Keeler, timekeeper, was the only wise one. "I don't eat candy on April Fool's day," he remarked.

Two County Men Face Check Counts

Tom Sheymura, 32, Tustin, arrested by Deputy Sheriffs James Workman and James Ragan yesterday on charges of issuing bank checks with intent to defraud, is scheduled to have his preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace D. J. Dodge, Newport Beach, tomorrow.

Harry Matsuyama, Tustin, arrested last week in connection with a case, was bound over to the superior court yesterday following his preliminary hearing in the Newport justice court. Both are being held under $1000 bail.

According to a report filed by the arresting officers, the two Japanese assertedly worked together and cashed six fictitious checks in Orange county totaling nearly $100. Among the victims were the Newport Pharmacy, Atwood grocery in Costa Mesa, a Buena Park service station and a cafe near Balboa Beach. Officers learned the identity of the check passers when the proprietor of the Costa Mesa store obtained the license number of the car in which the pair were riding.

L. B. CHAMBER MEN VISIT

A delegation of Long Beach chamber of commerce members today visited Santa Ana on an Orange county tour in the interest of a Southern California industrial exposition to be staged at Long Beach May 23 to 30. The affair will be devoted entirely to Southern California manufactured products and there will be no retail exhibits.

The group was met at the chamber of commerce building here by Howard I. Wood, secretary; Fred Merker, Wilbur Barr and James Harding.

In the Long Beach chamber were S. S. Conklin, first vice president of the Long Beach chamber; M. E. Ridenour, of the Better Business bureau; J. H. Chamness, chairman of the exposition, and Charles Wallach, assistant manager of the show.

HONOR TO GO ON FHA BROADCAST

How a World war veteran can build or repair a home with an average bonus payment of $637 will be explained at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning when Comm. G. A. Honer, American Legion Post No. 131, is interviewed by a Federal Housing administration representative on the regular Friday morning FHA broadcast from station KVOE.

Benefits of the national housing act to World war veterans will be included in the discussion. Results of an American Legion survey will be given, disclosing how veterans about to receive nearly two billion dollars in bonus payments plan to use the money.

Entitled "About Your Home," the FHA program is broadcast each Monday and Friday mornings at 11 o'clock.

Aviators Doomed

Letting the chips fall here and there:
All of us who thought the St. Louis Cardinals were ending all their troubles when the Dean boy inked his contract were way out of line. Ol' Diz isn't so much!

We've been reading up on him and in the course of our perusal some startling figures came to light.

Yessir, mebbe you wouldn't believe it, but Ol' Diz is just a second-division pitcher! Almost exclusively, in fact.

The lanky hick who made such a fuss over his contract and who always takes a prima donna role, scored 28 victories during 1935, but 20 of them were against second-division clubs. That's no bell-ringing record, is it?

His other eight victories were chalked up at the expense of Chicago, (the N. L. champs) New York and Pittsburgh.

What's more, those three teams beat Dizzy nine games to eight last year. Diz must blush when he remembers that of the 12 losses he suffered last year all but three of them were recorded against teams that might have meant the difference between winning the flag and losing same.

He was some better in 1934, though, showing 12 victories over first-division clubs and 18 against occupants of the second-division.

His four-year record in the National loop is 97 victories to 52 defeats.

Just to show you we're non-partisan, we remind you that Dean chalked up 17 strike outs—greatest major league total in a nine-inning game with the Chicago Cubs on June 30, 1932.

But this shellacking has an angering effect on the Cubs. They up and smacked Ol' Diz down six times in a row after that; 11 times the Cubs have beaten Dizzy and 10 times he has beaten them. It took Diz 14 months—until Aug. 14, 1934—to put over his next win on the Cubs.

What's happened to the girls' night league here? Last we heard of it there was much quibbling over whether the Amazons should wear shorts, which have become conventional gym attire for the girls, or overalls—or something equally concealing.

Baseball in overalls, or in slacks, even! Tsk! Tsk!

That's going back to what "Good Neighbor" Franklin D. Roosevelt aptly calls the "horse and buggy days."

Girls swim in abbreviated costumes. They play basketball in similar attire. And in high school they take their workouts in sensible, decent outfits that allow them a maximum of arm and leg movement and insure a fair chance for their talents. And ultimately inspire athletic ambitions, not aroused by cumbersome attire.

Most of the world realizes that girls are no more providing a "leg show" when they drill in gym shorts than men are when they scamper about in their own peculiar "scanties."

Look for a battle Tuesday. The Westminster night club, as reported in this corner some weeks ago, is face to face with the dire prospect of losing its park.

The reason, as we pointed out in advance, is that a group of Westminsterites is protesting charging of admission to the field, which is a county park, and kicks about the asserted "monopoly" of the ball diamond.

The fuss comes to a head before the board of supervisors Tuesday when the matter of releasing the park comes before the county council of authority. Businessmen and chamber of commerce have urged the club be allowed use of the park again; another faction, armed with petitions signed by numerous residents of the area, is fighting tooth and nail to have the lease held up.

Of course, if the lease is not again granted, Francis Penhall and his Aviators will be up in the air. And the National night league may be shy another member unless the Westminster lads can find a way to use as a part in the storm.

LICENSES INCREASED
WASHINGTON, April 2. (AP)—A biological survey report today said a total of 5,918,045 hunting licenses were sold in 1934 in all states and Alaska, yielding a total revenue of $9,068,850. The number of licenses was an increase of 180,000 from 1933.

Le Mon Match Looms for Chapman-Kimball Winner

With the Le Mon fight as an added incentive Kimball and Chapman are expected to wage a toe-

Shellenback Spitballs Padres to Victory; Oaks Drub Angels

By the Associated Press
Sacramento's brand-new Senators answered the opening skepticism of the Pacific Coast league's equally new president, W. C. Tuttle, by drubbing the championship San Francisco Seals, 11-1.

It was no bunch of rookies that pounded out 15 hits yesterday while Dick Ward set the Seals down with three hits in eight innings.

Shortstop Sid Stringfellow of Sacramento continued his remarkable bobbling record, booting another to make it four in four games. His three hits out of four trips to the plate squared the score.

Manager Frank Shellenback spitballed his San Diego Padres to a 10-5 win over the Seattle Indians. He allowed the Tribe six hits, while the Padres pounded four Indian hurlers for 17.

Oakland kept pace with the Missions in the league leadership by beating Los Angeles, 7-2. A lucky sixth inning, in which the Oaks made five scores out of five hits won the game.

The standings:

Team	W.	L.	Pct.
Oakland	4	1	.800
Missions	4	1	.800
San Diego	3	2	.600
Portland	2	2	.500

Man Mountain Coming Back
Man Mountain Dean, no less, returns to local circulation Monday night when he headlines John (Doc) Contos' second heavyweight wrestling card at the Orange County Athletic club. Dean was signed today by Contos to race Big Sledge, sensational Southern titleholder and "Trust Buster" in the three fall, one hour main event.

Undefeated here, Sledge was picked by Promoter Contos as the man most likely to beat the 317-pound bearded giant.

It is understood that Mrs. Man Mountain Dean, who caused a near riot here the last time Dean wrestled and caused the headlined grappler's suspension, will be barred from the arena.

Promoter Contos has signed the Greek star, George Kondelis, for his second appearance against the tough Irishman, Jerry Monahan, in the secondary feature.

JONES FAVORED IN LATE PLAY
AUGUSTA, Ga., April 2. (AP)—America's leading professionals and amateurs, assembled here for the $5000 72-hole medal-play Augusta national invitation golf tournament, remained idle today as rain delayed the start until Friday.

Officials said 18 holes probably will be played tomorrow.

Meanwhile, sentiment and recent sub-par firing by Bobby Jones, the retired king of the fairways, made him co-favorite in the betting along with Henry Picard of Hershey, Pa., at odds of 8 to 1 against the field. Fifty-four golfers are entered.

The favor with which the public holds Jones, who clipped 16 strokes from par on his last four trips around the Augusta course he helped to design was shown as he was bid at $1000, top prize in the sweepstakes auction last night.

Picard, recent winner of the North and South Open, was next to Jones at a bid of $950.

Cene Sarazen was third at $775, and was listed at 10-1 in the betting along with W. Lawson Little, Jr.

LITTLE ENROLLS IN 'MONEY BRIGADE'

AMATEUR ACE TAKES JUMP FOR CASH
Augusta Tourney Held Up by Rain; Champ Is 'Very Happy'

By ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor
AUGUSTA, Ga., April 2.—While a deluge washed out the first round of the Augusta National tournament, William Lawson Little, Jr., king of the world's amateurs for the past two years, emerged today as the latest notable recruit to the ranks of professional golf.

In making the big jump that took two famous championship predecessors, Robert T. Jones, Jr. and George Von Elm, from the ranks of the simon-pures six years ago, Little ended at the age of only 25 an amateur career that dazzled two continents in 1934 and 1935.

Loses Cup Chance
With a world record streak of 31 consecutive victories in title match play, the San Francisco "siege gun" captured the American and British crowns twice in succession. His decision not only means the relinquishment of both championships, at the peak of his career, but removes his chance to captain this year's American Walker cup team.

With his bride, the former Dorothy Hurd of Chicago, nodding their smiling agreement, Little declared today he was "happy in making the decision that offers the chance to get down to work."

The details have yet to be worked out but he will shortly sign contracts, he said, for a long term golf promotion venture sponsored by a national sporting goods (Spalding's) concern. It is estimated he will realize $10,000 at least in his first year in the golf business.

Gets Education
Little will be associated with Bob Jones in work which the Georgian described as "educational." Present plans call for Little to lead a touring party which will give exhibitions, show motion pictures and otherwise seek to create wider interest in golf playing. Jones will act only in an advisory capacity. The aim is to reach public course, schools and colleges with the promotional program.

The Californian also will take his chances with other professionals in open competition, for prize money. He will join the "money brigade" here for the first time. He will compete in the United States open at Baltusrol, N. J., in June.

SCRIBES CHOOSE ST. LOUIS

By HERBERT W. BARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK, April 2.—A two-club race for the National league pennant, with the St. Louis Cardinals dethroning the Chicago Cubs by a narrow margin, was forecast today by the nation's baseball experts casting ballots in the Associated Press' tenth annual poll.

In as close a battle of ballots as the poll has ever been, 43 of the 98 sports editors and baseball writers who participated, cast their first-place ballots for the "gas-house gang," led by the inimitable Deans and bolstered by the off-season acquisition of Le Roy (Bud) Parmelee, fast-ball right-hander.

The Cubs, who won the 1935 flag with a spectacular 21-game winning streak in the closing months of the campaign, were placed second despite the fact they will get away from the barrier two weeks hence with virtually the same array that performed so sensationally a year ago.

The Cubs received 39 first-place ballots, but Charlie Grimm's champions can take heart from the fact that the 1935 poll established the Cardinals as favorites and ranked the Cubs no better than third.

As far as the experts are concerned, only two other clubs—the New York Giants and Pittsburgh Pirates—can be considered to have even a remote chance of figuring in the championship this summer. The Giants were given 13 votes for first-place and Pittsburgh, prospective "dark horse" of the campaign, received three.

The Pirates, banking on a powerful attack led again by the 1935 batting champion, Floyd (Arky) Vaughan, and improved pitching, were given votes for every position but seventh. The bulk of their ballots, however, were for fourth place and they are ranked there, a notch behind the Giants.

Long Beach Poly Will Wreck Local Varsity On Burcham Field

Outnumbered and outclassed, Santa Ana High school's trackmen are in for a miserable beating at Long Beach Poly tomorrow afternoon, but the Coast league dual meet will provide another opportunity for Reece (Pinky) Greene's Saints to brush up individual marks.

Norman Barker's Jackrabbits are undisputedly headed for another championship. Their talented varsity conquered San Diego's powerhouse contingent, 59½ to 53½, at San Diego last week, while Santa Ana was being drubbed by Alhambra, 70 to 56. San Diego looms much stronger than Alhambra.

Carl Bias Mercurio, who once attained 6:2 but now has difficulty scaling 5:7, must soar an even 5 feet if the Saints hope to win the high jump from Lippincott of Long Beach.

Leonard Stafford probably will be forced to elevate himself 12 feet to defeat a veteran named Semmens in the pole vault. Harry Adams in the prints, Walt Opp in the half-mile and Fred Tintensor in the 440, Santa Ana's other best bets, will do well to place.

The Saints boast middleweights and lightweights who may take some of the "Little Jackrabbits."

Dalton Lutz in the century and furlong, Dearing Waggener in the 660, Herschel Whittney in the 1320, Dwight Nott in the hurdles, and Nathan Levens, Wendell Tedrow, Mitsuo Nitta and Gabe in the field event should pick-up some Class B points.

Byram Bates, Larry Dresser, Freddie Pimental, Junior Mulvihill, Bob Newton and Dick Stein may surprise in the Class C events. Bates holds all-time school records of 20.9 in the broad jump and 5.4 in the high jump, while Dresser is a promising vaulter.

Infielder Lacy was in uniform last night when the Stars and Elks fought to a 5-5 draw in a night ball at the Municipal Bowl, but his presence was brief. Early in the third inning he twisted his left ankle. Only last week he discarded his crutches after favoring a right ankle he severely sprained in basketball.

Opening Set for April 10; Option System To Be Employed

Greyhound racing, with leading dog kennels of the state to be represented, will return to Orange county, on the night of April 10.

This was the good news for followers of the sport here today when E. S. Sullivan and Robert E. Walker, Santa Anans who built the racing strip at the old county fair grounds on Highway 101, announced they had leased the property to R. B. Rawlins, El Paso, Tex., sportsman. Mr. Rawlins will be manager of the track for a group of Santa Ana men, Sullivan and Walker announced.

Work is now being speeded on installation of lights and modernization of the racing plant, Mr. Rawlins said. Schooling of the sleek, gaunt greyhounds will start early next week, it was announced.

Eight races will be held nightly except Sunday, starting at 8 o'clock, according to present plans.

Since there are no other dog racing tracks operating in California at this time, the local plant is assured the choice of racing dogs, officials said.

There will be no betting as such, but spectators will be privileged to use the "option system" whereby they may purchase options to buy one of the greyhounds.

Lopez April Fool's Mountain
LOS ANGELES, April 2. (AP)—Vincent Lopez still ruled California wrestling today.

The 225-pound Mexican played an April Fool's joke on Man Mountain Dean, 317, last night at the Olympic.

Taking the opening fall with a body press, the Brooklyn Hill-Billy seemed on the way to victory, but Lopez tossed him out of the ring two minutes and 37 seconds later and he was unable to continue.

STAR DUST
Reports to the contrary, Third Baseman Cecil Sauer, who compiled a .327 hitting average last season, has not signed with Westminster of the National Night Ball league.

Sauers, recently released by Manager Ben Gelker of the Grenadiers, is officially a free agent. He has been drilling with Santa Ana, and may be retained to vie with Tommy Young at the hot corner. Unless he can win a regular post here, Sauers will migrate to Westminster, it is said.

Kenneth Miller's City league champion Elks, who extended the Stars in a 5-5 draw in which they collected six hits to Santa Ana's nine last night, will hold a joint drill with Gene Hitt's First National Bankers at 7 o'clock in the Municipal bowl tonight.

Joe Ochoa, one-time Santa Ana pitcher, reported to Westminster last night, when the Aviators, under the direction of Merton Penhall, went through a light drill at Westminster. Francis Penhall, the club's manager, is in the East on business, and will not return until April 9.

Westminster has lined up the following prospects: Pitcher Elwyn (Fuzzy) Errington, Shortstop-Manager Les Haseot, Bruce Hanois, Floyd Montgomery, Dave Webb, Jimmie Jones, Reg Lake, Jim McNabb, Gil Yorba and "Hap" Wilson. The Flyers may sign McClure, rangy star from Torrance.

Gene Thomas, Irvine club manager, was in the press-box last night scouting George Lackaye's Stars, while the Orange county leaguers play here tomorrow.

Beatem Taken for 60 Bucks While Riskitt Wins Dough
By OSCAR OATS

I have had a notion not to tell you what I pick for today at all. . . . Just then comes Mr. Riskitt gloating over his fat poke, which now is up to $2015.70, and he waves a smear of fine form horses in our faces.

"These," he chortles, "will do it again today. That Tanforan is duck soup!"

So Mr. Beatem breaks down and tells me what he plans to do today. Yesterday Mr. Riskitt picks Bonnyne first for $25.50, Proclivity first for $23, Zevair first for $34, Thursday second for $13, Afridi second for $17.50, and Zebulo third for $9.50. While all those nags are romping around up top, Mr. Beatem has a very sad time.

He manages to pick Lyander second for $25.50. Quick Look pays off $13.50 to show and Sweet Mystery pays off $9.50 to show. This is not so good, as it loses him $59.50. He has a bank roll now of only $1574, after starting the season with $2000.

The tote board is a steady winner. To date it collects $366.80 of the $3070 the boys bet. For tomorrow they pick them this way, they tell me, betting $15 combination tickets on each one:

Mr. Riskitt: Inheritor, Proud Indian, Easter Tommy, Golden Crystal, Double Four, Rattlebrain, Single Ragan, Ray, Let.

Mr. Beatem: Black Hair, Sirloin, Tritoma, Joboso, Greenspring Lad, Northcut.

"Mr. Oats," I tell him, "I speak to Mr. Riskitt last night, and do you know what he tells me? He tells me that he is practically sure of getting more winners than you at any time and any place for the reason that he plays form and not that he plays a bad hunch at that."

"Mr. Oats," complains Beatem then, "it looks to this guesser that you too are a fair-weather friend."

LYLE MORSE IS HERO OF 5-5 DRAW

Twisted Ankle Benches Utility Shortstop in Game With B.P.O.E.

Tommy Lacy, sturdy-legged junior collegian who spells Francis Conrad at shortstop, was lost to Santa Ana Stars for an indefinite period today.

Infielder Lacy was in uniform last night when the Stars and Elks fought to a 5-5 draw in a night ball at the Municipal Bowl, but his presence was brief. Early in the third inning he twisted his left ankle. Only last week he discarded his crutches after favoring a right ankle he severely sprained in basketball.

George Lackaye, Santa Ana manager, said he did not believe Lacy would be available for the infield until next season. He may be employed as an outfield reserve.

MYSTERY OF WHY'LL GET THESE BONES? SOUTH SEAS ON KVOE

The story of one of those fascinating mysteries of the south seas will be dramatized in tonight's "Front Page Drama" on KVOE at 8:45 o'clock under the title of "Forbidden." It concerns the recent filming of a picture in the islands when a motion picture director was warned to respect native "taboos." When the warning went unheeded, calamity descended upon the company like an avalanche, wiping out almost the entire community. The leading role will be played by Claude North, dramatist and author.

Col. M. B. Wellington, chairman of the disaster relief committee of the Santa Ana Red Cross chapter, and George De Rouillac, president of the Smiley chapter, Toastmasters club of Santa Ana, will be heard in an interview from KVOE at 7 o'clock concerning disaster preparedness and what means exist at present to take care of any emergency which might come to any city or community in Orange county because of fire, flood, wind-storm or earthquake.

Curator to Talk
The curator of the Bowers museum, Mrs. F. E. Coulter, will be a guest speaker on this evening's adult education broadcast from KVOE at 5:30. Mrs. Coulter will be the guest of Mrs. Golden Weston, director of the adult education department, Santa Ana city schools, and will discuss the educational value of the museum, the oldest agency in adult education.

Beginning at 9:15 o'clock tomorrow morning, the first of a series of broadcasts entitled, "The Clinic of Christian Living," will be made from KVOE by the Rev. Joseph H. Thompson, of Wintersburg. The broadcasts, to be strictly denominational, will comprise a series of "sermonettes" and sacred songs. Theme of tomorrow's broadcast will be "Devout Christians Must Resist Temptation."

Sons of the Pioneers
The lovely, old Scotch melody, "Comin' Through the Rye," one of Bob Nolan's own compositions; "Sage Brush Sea," and the favorite old hillbilly lament of the West Virginia hills, "Carry Me Back to the Mountains" will be vocalized by the Sons of the Pioneers tonight at 8:45 o'clock.

'Sleeping Beauty' Has a Birthday

CHICAGO, April 2. (AP)—Patricia Maguire, the "Sleeping Beauty" who has never heard of the Lindbergh kidnapping, the New Deal or the Italo-Ethiopian war, was 31 years old yesterday.

Her mother, Mrs. Peter Miley, bent over a bed in their suburban Oak Park home and whispered: "Happy birthday, Pat."

But there was no response from the victim of a rare form of sleeping sickness. She has been in a coma since Feb. 14, 1932.

L. A. Police Face Problem

LOS ANGELES, April 2. (AP)—An odd problem sprang up today over the right to possession of the bones of a man who died probably 16,000 years ago.

The police department had the bones, dug up recently under 13 feet of earth by WPA workmen digging drain ditches in the southwestern part of the city.

Homicide squad members seized them for investigation of a possible murder. They dropped their inquiry, however, after Dr. A. O. Bowden, University of Southern California anthropologist, examined the skeleton.

Dr. Bowden said the bones appeared to be those of a man of the Pleistocene age, a period lasting from 16,000 to 50,000 years ago.

He said the discovery apparently was one of the most important in recent years, but showed only a faint interest in playing coroner for curious detectives and a coroner for curious detectives and a coroner for curious detectives.

Detectives had to surmise that probably the "Dawn Man" inadvertently had run athwart a saber-toothed tiger or a bull imperial elephant.

The teeth of an imperial elephant were found in the same stratum nearby.

James Bolger, secretary to Police Chief James E. Davis, said several persons including Dr. Bowden and his colleagues at the university, the WPA publicity department, any number of WPA workers, and "a man from Pasadena," want the bones and he does not know who to give them to.

58 YEARS OF MARRIAGE ENDS

LOS ANGELES, April 2. (AP)—After marriage of 58 years, Mrs. Virginia E. Crenshaw, 78, could not endure her husband's temperance, she testified yesterday in winning a divorce from C. L. Crenshaw, 80, member of a pioneer family, who she had married in 1878.

Radio Roundup

TONIGHT'S PROGRAMS

By HOMER CANFIELD

ALBERT Spalding, violinist, whose technique and renown have blossomed during the past few years, will hold the future spotlight on Bing Crosby's show.

With Spalding will be Binnie Barnes, Edward Everett Horton and Bob Burns to round out the sixty minutes. (KFI, 7)

EARLIER in the evening our dial favors Kay Thompson's scheduled appearance on Rudy Valle's revue. The talented singer and pianist will be heard with her mixed chorus of twelve voices.

Others on this show are Smith and Dale, a comedy team of vaudeville days, Frank Fay and a play entitled "Box Car." (KFI, 5)

WAYNE King's music may be all some claim—old-fashioned, sentimentally sloppy, "corny," but I like it.

During a personal appearance tour, King drew enough customers into theaters to make the managers happy to pay a $10,000-a-week service charge. Music that can do that must have a universal quality based on musical soundness.

Those that clap-hands for the "swing" and "jam" schools can continue to beat this all but bloody brow, but every Monday night—or any other time Mr. King feels prone to broadcast, you'll find him listed in the "highlights."

WILLIAM Van Den Burg, assistant conductor of the San Francisco Symphony orchestra, will direct the "Symphony Hour" tonight. (KFI, 8:15)

Before coming to California to fulfill a contract as first cellist for the Bay City organization, Van Den Burg directed the Philadelphia orchestra in a series of outstanding concerts.

Complete program details follow: Overture—"Egmont"—Beethoven. Puccini—"Tosca"—Third Symphony. Tales from the Vienna Woods. Strauss—"Barber of Seville"—Rossini. The Mad Hunsar. Strauss—"Prelude—Khorvanchina"—Mussorgsky. Overture—"Russian and Ludmilla"—Glinka.

PERSONAL nomination for the sweetest tune to hit the airwaves in months—Irvine Berlin's "Let's Face the Music and Dance." And the multiple-rhythm background Meredith Wilson conceived for the other evening was great.

We would like to hear Benny Field lend his swell baritone to it some time soon.

TREND IN FARM PRICES TOLD

The ratio of prices received by the farmer for his products to prices paid by the farmer for industrial goods which he used in production is 89 per cent, according to an economic report just received by Farm Advisor Harold E. Wahlberg from the division of agricultural economics, U. S. Department of Agriculture. The ratio is based on price indices of the parity period 1910-1914, and present prices for all commodities.

Index figures for February show that prices which the farmer paid were 122 per cent of the 1910-1914 base while the prices he received were 109 per cent. Farm prices of grains were 92 per cent, cotton 94 per cent, fruits 92 per cent, truck crops 117 per cent, meat animals 125 per cent. Farm wages were reported at 94 per cent. Farm taxes had lowered to 154 per cent from a high of 241 per cent in 1929.

Twelve crops in a list of 24 representative commodities showed smaller earnings in February of this year than in February, 1935, according to figures just announced by the college of agriculture.

MEET FRIDAY ON CIVIL SERVICE

The much-mooted question of civil service for Orange county public employees again will be the topic of discussion at another meeting of all public employees to be held Friday at 7:30 p. m. in department three of the superior court, in the hall of records.

State and Long Beach civil service officials will attend the meeting, and will lead in a discussion of proposition and the proposed constitutional amendment providing for civil service, which it will be attempted to place on the November ballot.

L. W. Husted, president of the California Federation of civil service associations, which organization is sponsoring the proposed amendment, will lead the discussions. With him will be Glenn McMeekin, secretary and examiner of the civil service commission for the city of Long Beach, and Lyn Ballard, a civil service commissioner of that city.

Three meetings already have been held in the courthouse under sponsorship of the Orange County Employees Association, each of them devoted to the same question. The ratings proposed would blanket all present employees, including all elective heads except the supervisors, district attorney and county assessor.

Journal Carriers Set To Go On Popularity Contest

Enthusiastic and ready to go, carrier boys of The Santa Ana Journal rallied last night at the newspaper offices to start off the first anniversary carrier popularity contest in concerted fashion. The boys all are emphatic in their determination to make the first contest the most successful of any similar contest ever held in Santa Ana. Their incentive is the thought of getting their work done well, and $100 in cash prizes as rewards.

Among the group to compete are many who also are celebrating their first anniversaries as "Little Merchants," under The Journal plan of distribution.

For one year this group has delivered its papers throughout the city, and has demonstrated its ability to handle routes in a business-like and competent manner. Now they are being given a chance to capitalize on the service they have rendered in the past.

Votes toward prizes in the contest are credited as follows: For boys obtains he will be given 500 votes; for each three months past service in advance he will receive 250 votes; for perfect service (no complaints from his route) 1000 votes; for each increase on route, 100 votes; for a letter of commendation from a customer, 200 votes; for each coupon clipped from The Journal each Saturday during the contest, 100 votes; and for each magazine order obtained, 250 votes.

This contest, which will end on May 15, will provide not only an opportunity for the boys to earn extra money, but an opportunity for you, his customers, to express your appreciation of his service by cooperating with him, and giving him a boost toward winning the contest.

Also on the bill is a three-stooges comedy, "Three Little Boars," a colored cartoon, chapter No. 11 of "Phantom Empire"; and a newsreel.

William Boyd plays the title role. The story concerns the thrilling days of the old west—days of range wars between cattlemen and rustlers, and Hopalong is one of the cowboys who helps bring the rustlers to justice.

In the cast with Boyd are Jimmy Ellison, Paula Stone and Kenneth Thompson.

MONGOLIA WARNED BY MANCHOUKUO TO CEASE FRONTIER RAIDS

RELATIONS OF TWO NATIONS STRAINED

Russia and Japan Are Backing Countries in Their Dispute

(Copyright, 1936, by Associated Press)
HSINKING, Manchoukuo, April 2.—Unless the Outer Mongolian government "takes immediate steps to terminate all kinds of provocations against Manchoukuo's frontiers, the relations of the two countries are threatened with the most serious contingencies," the Japanese-sponsored state of Manchoukuo warned today.

The Manchoukuo foreign minister, Chang Yen-Ching, telegraphed this protest to Premier Amors at Ulan Bator (Urga), capital of Outer Mongolia, newly allied to Soviet Russia under a mutual assistance pact.

The Manchoukuo note alleged a battle fought Tuesday on the disputed frontiers between Manchoukuo and Outer Mongolia was clearly a case of Mongol aggression.

The Manchoukuo protest asserted Outer Mongolian "hostile activities in frontier districts had been carried on with increasing vigor since March 29."

The note cited alleged Mongol air and land attacks March 29 and March 31 in the Lake Bor region.

MONGOLIANS WIN BACK THEIR LANDS

MOSCOW, April 2. (AP)—Outer Mongolia guarded closely against any further attempt to seize its territory today, Soviet advisers from Ulan Bator said, after all land invaded by Japanese-Manchoukuo forces was reoccupied.

Soviet dispatches from the Outer Mongolian capital said the Japanese and Manchoukuo troops reported to have fought their way 30 miles into the republic, were driven back, with heavy losses into Manchoukuo.

Calm was restored to the contested far eastern frontier of Soviet-supported Outer Mongolia and Japanese-sponsored Manchoukuo, the latest reports said, but both Ulan Bator and Moscow kept a sharp watch over the situation.

HOLLYWOOD, April 2. (AP)—Shirley Temple is trying to learn bicycle riding, and "Danny," age 9, is the cause of it all.

"Danny" is a rather mysterious person. Shirley won't discuss him, except to disclose his name, age and the fact that he can perform such cycling calisthenics as riding backwards, blindfolded and sitting on the handlebars.

++ County Landmarks ++ Rancho Santiago de Santa Ana One of Historic Areas of County

(In an effort to acquaint residents of Orange county with some of their most-prized historic possessions, The Journal is publishing a series of daily articles on county landmarks. These articles will describe their location and give historical facts concerning them. Today's article tells about Rancho Santiago de Santa Ana. —Editor.)

Rancho Santiago de Santa Ana is one of the historic areas of Orange county. It's a rather large landmark, covering 62,516.57 acres, and included the area in which Santa Ana, Orange, Tustin, Ovale, Costa Mesa and El Modena now lie. It was the first grant in what is now Orange county, actually signed by a governor under a Spanish king.

The famous rancho was the home of the first Yorbas, who became one of the most distinguished families in the state. Apparently the property was first granted, rather informally, to Don Pablo Peralta and Don Jose Antonio Yorba. The latter came from Spain to Mexico as a corporal in 1768. He was in the Portola expedition which came through this section in 1769.

Later, in 1810, the formal grant signed by the governor was made to Don Jose Antonio Yorba and his nephew, Don Pablo Peralta. The Peraltas became another famous California family. Grants were made rather freely in those days, and it was not until the 50's that definite boundaries were established for the rancho. This was done by an American land commission.

In a general way, the rancho included virtually all the land between the Santa Ana river and a line through Red Hill, which ran parallel to what is now Newport road.

Don Jose Antonio Yorba died in 1835. Later the rancho was partitioned among his heirs.

of floats showed such entries as "Lady Godiva on a Sea Horse" had not been scratched.

Committees from several large churches were said to be ready to take stern measures if the floats are of a nature to "corrupt the morals of youth" as they said has been the case in past festival processions.

Defenders of the parade insist that with few exceptions nudity on the floats is no greater than that found on beaches here any balmy afternoon.

BEACH TO HAVE T. B. SOCIETY TO PLAN BOARD ELECT MONDAY

An ordinance creating a city planning commission was passed by the Laguna Beach city council at a meeting there last night, calling for six members to be appointed by the council and with three ex-officio members, the city engineer, fire chief and mayor.

Capt. George Portus, president of the chamber of commerce, who is sponsoring the plan, urged immediate action, stating that citizens of Laguna Beach have for two years been attempting to create a planning commission and that no time should be lost.

Thomas A. Cummings favored prompt action, explaining that costs involved in such a commission could be determined from such cities as Huntington Beach, Newport, Santa Ana and Santa Barbara, which now have planning commissions.

He proposed that if the cost was found to be too great before the third reading of the ordinance, later action could be taken before it becomes effective, 30 days from today.

Five temporary life-guards were appointed to serve during the Easter vacation period, beginning Saturday. The main beach, Diver's Cove and Wood's Cove will be under temporary observation of life-guards, provided the weather is warm enough to warrant this protection of school children. A motion was passed for Councilman Thomas A. Cummings to appoint as many guards as are needed.

It was also decided to have all the beaches cleaned for spring vacation.

Hen Lays Orchid Eggs; Easter Is Approaching

SONORA, Cal., April 2. (AP)—An Easter egg of a natural orchid color was displayed today by County Agriculturalist H. H. Sherard.

The egg, of normal size and shape, was laid by a black Minorca hen owned by Anthony Gomes of Gustine.

Gomes said the hen eats the same food as the rest of his chickens but lays orchid eggs. He sent some of them to the University of California for examination.

HOLD UP PAY OF ILLINOIS EMPLOYEES

Governor Charged With Hiring 3000 to Aid His Campaign

CHICAGO, April 2. (AP)—The controversy over withholding the pay checks of thousands of state employees—latest development in a bitter Democratic factional fight—moved toward a showdown today.

Treasurer John Stelle, member of the "regular" party organization supporting Dr. Herman E. Buescher, and opposing Gov. Henry Horner for the gubernatorial nomination in the April 14 primary, precipitated the altercation yesterday. He held up the wages of code department personnel under the governor's jurisdiction and charged the executive with "fiscal padding."

Department officials estimated 32,000 employees were affected.

Challenges Legality

At Chicago, Horner branded Stelle's action "a cheap political trick" and impugned its legality.

At Quincy, Chairman W. E. Lancaster of the civil service commission announced he would try to force release of the funds.

Stelle said he would withhold the pay until the names he challenged had been removed, expressed hope Lancaster would start suit, and declared:

"I will prove that at least 3000 men and women were placed on the payrolls for political purposes."

He charged one-fifth of the $1,000,000 monthly payroll under supervision of the governor's office represented payments to politicians hired to aid Horner's campaign.

Exam to Be Held On $5600 Post

Civil service examinations for the position of assistant director (historic sites and buildings) in the national park service, department of the interior, will be held in the near future, it was announced today.

The entrance salary is $5600 a year, less a deduction of 3 1/2 percent toward a retirement annuity. Applicants must have successfully completed a four-year course in a college or university of recognized standing, and in addition must have certain specified experience.

The applicant's experience must indicate, among other things, thorough and comprehensive training in American history.

Further information may be obtained from Frank Cannon, secretary of the United States Civil Service board of examiners, at the postoffice in this city.

DECLARE MISTRIAL IN DAMAGE CASE

The suit in which Mr. and Mrs. David J. Owens, Long Beach, asked $8150 from Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Schneider, Anaheim, for an alleged misrepresentation in a real estate deal ended abruptly late Tuesday afternoon when Superior Judge James L. Allen declared a mistrial.

Attorney William L. Watters of Long Beach, representing Mr. and Mrs. Owens, asked for the mistrial on the grounds that the case was being improperly conducted by attorneys for the defendants.

Mr. and Mrs. Owens had claimed they traded two Long Beach lots, purportedly worth $12,500, for a 10-acre orange grove in Anaheim, which subsequently turned out to be worth only $4350. The misrepresentation occurred, they asserted, when representatives of Mr. and Mrs. Schneider told them the grove produced 1350 boxes of oranges in 1934 and they later found that it had produced only 600 boxes.

TWO COUNTY DOGS EXECUTED

Die for Murder of Livestock

Two dogs, a Great Dane and a police dog, convicted of first-degree murder and attempted murder of several calves and a colt, were executed by Deputy Sheriff's Claude Potter and Fred Swayze yesterday afternoon.

A third dog involved in the crimes, a bulldog, was exiled.

Last week the three dogs were seen on the Fred Bixby ranch in Santa Ana canyon, soon after they had attacked and killed a calf. They were later seen attacking a colt that they had "ham-strung."

Deputy sheriffs were notified, and it was learned that the dogs belonged to Ben and Vincent Yorba, whose ranch adjoins the Bixby ranch. The two brothers were told of the dogs' crimes, and agreed that the offenders should be dealt with in the usual manner.

There were no reprieves or last-minute stays of execution. The two officers went to the Yorba ranch yesterday and took the murderers into custody. The owners of the dogs requested the convicts be taken off the ranch for execution, and told the officers the bulldog had been given to a friend.

The Great Dane and the Police dog were taken to a lonely spot in the Santa Ana river bed. Neither of them was aware that soon he would be on the way to whatever heaven dogs go to after they die. They weren't even aware that they had committed a crime. It was just fun for them to chase after calves and pester young colts on the ranch. One of the officers drew a revolver. The Great Dane, tail wagging, and proud, stood quietly while the officer took aim and fired. The police dog was executed in like fashion a minute later.

Says Alice to Puffy, "This wolf in sheep's clothing—He promised me fame, plus a small weekly payment. If I would consent, at great danger and peril, To be shot out of that big cannon's barrel!"

UNION HEADS GET BEHIND ROOSEVELT

New League Organized By Labor to Work For President

WASHINGTON, April 2. (AP)—Powerful union leaders within the American Federation of Labor swung into action today to support President Roosevelt and fight his foes in the election campaign.

The formation of "Labor's Non-Partisan league" and the start of its drive came in the thick of Republican activity including the important New York primary, the Maine convention, and the filing of petitions for both Senator Borah of Idaho and Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas in the New Jersey presidential preference primary.

Associates Named

Creation of the new league was announced by George L. Berry, president of the printing pressmen. His associates are John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, and Sidney Hillman, president of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers.

Berry, head of the President's Council for Industrial Progress, referred apparently to the American Liberty league's attacks on the New Deal when he declared his group's move was prompted by the actions of "other leagues which had as their purpose the defeat of the President and his policies."

Medium for Support

Berry agreed his league would be a medium for A. F. of L. support for Mr. Roosevelt. Only once has the federation endorsed a presidential candidate—in the case of Robert M. La Follette in 1924.

Senator Borah's backers, after a vigorous campaign, awaited results today of efforts to get support from among the 90 national convention delegates to be picked in New York.

Filing of Borah and Landon petitions in New Jersey puts both Republicans definitely in one state race for the first time.

Saga of Two-Year Hunt for Happiness in Strange Land Related by Japanese Here

By BOB GUILD

The trail of a two-year search for happiness in a land of opportunity ended yesterday in San Clemente.

On the way of the trail were dangers and excitement, long weary months of near starvation, baffling, bitter attempts to live in a land where customs, tongue and geography were unfamiliar.

Akiri Masanki, fisherman, is going back to the Japan he left two years ago. Yesterday he was arrested in San Clemente as he tried to find work. Today he is waiting in the Orange county jail under federal warrant for illegal entry.

Speaks No English

He still can speak no English, but through an interpreter yesterday afternoon he told a graphic tale of adventure beginning in a little fishing village on the coast of the Nippon empire.

He went to his wife one night and told her he was leaving for America, where they could get a business of their own, make some money and be independent.

"How can you," she asked, "when we have no money?"

"That has been arranged," he told her. "I go with friends in our fishing boat. In a year I will have a home for you. I will send for you."

Started in a Small Boat

Five fishermen started out from the land of the rising sun in a little 40-foot boat, straight across the Pacific. Their urge to be in a country where they would be free drove them through three months of storm and calm, heat and bitter cold. Mishap threatened many times, but they sailed through it, almost to their destination.

Then disaster struck them off the coast of Mexico, below Ensenada. During a seasonal storm they were driven on the rocks, their ship crushed. They wrapped their money in oilskins, and swam through the breakers to shore.

Then they trekked overland to Turtle Bay, the Japanese colony in Mexico, and lived until they were in a condition to go on, toward America.

Then to Mexicali

Some time later they arrived in Mexicali, and one night Masanki's companions got across the border and disappeared. They were picked up about a month's time in San Pedro, where they had gone back to the sea to earn a living. Immigration Inspector Franklyn Davis said.

Masanki hung on in Mexicali until he found two mean and furtive white men one night in a beer hall. They asked him if he was going to Los Angeles. Finally they offered to smuggle him there for $100.

Masanki had it and gave it to them gladly. That night they started out with the trembling Japanese cowering in the bottom of the car. They drove for hours into a strange country, then north of Brawley. In the desert they stopped the car and turned to Masanki, gun in hand.

Robbed of Everything

They stripped him of everything he had, including bag and money.

SEVEN NAMED ON RELIEF PROBLEM

Congressmen Will Study Situation in State, Prior to Aid Plea

WASHINGTON, April 2. (AP)—A committee of seven congressmen was named yesterday to study California's relief problem with a possible view to obtaining further financial aid from the federal government.

Appointed on the committee by Representative Clarence F. Lea, dean of the California delegation, were Representatives Frank H. Buck, Vacaville; Richard J. Welch, San Francisco; Harry L. Englebright, Nevada City; John J. McGrath, San Mateo; Charles J. Colden, San Pedro; Byron N. Scott, Long Beach; and George Burnham, San Diego.

"The committee," Lea said, "will study the relief problem with a view to determining what can justifiably be done to meet the existing crisis."

He indicated the group might possibly call on Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins, who has rejected two appeals for funds to tide the state over a crisis caused by the threatened exhaustion of a $24,000,000 state relief appropriation.

Chairman Francis V. Carr of the state relief commission told Lea and other members of the congressional delegation that less aid was forthcoming from Washington, more than 300,000 persons would be cut off the dole after May 1.

Mary Stoddard
Full Length Mirror Best Cure for Untidy
Wife; It's Little Things That Count

By MARY STODDARD
"Mirror, mirror on the wall, who is the loveliest of us all," the fairy tale wicked queen asked her mirror, and each time it showed her she was not lovelier than Snow White, she threw the mirror down in fury.

That may be the way "Perplexed Husband's" wife would react, if he took the suggestion of N. A. and hung a full length mirror to show her how careless she has become in her person-appearance. Another reader criticizes the wife severely for her un-tidiness.

Dear Miss Stoddard: In regard to "Perplexed Husband's" problem:

If he will buy her a full-length mirror and have it placed conveniently he will not only be pleasing her, but will be pleased in turn.

She has a love of neatness and order in all she sees, or her house would not be so well kept.

She is refreshingly unselfconscious and natural. Her children will never look back on an unloved childhood because mother was at a party or beauty parlor
two-thirds of the time.

N. A.
Dear Miss Stoddard: When I read the replies to "Perplexed Husband," I was surprised to learn that there are so many unfair people in the world.

How could anyone say that a wife with no pride in her person-appearance is something to be thankful for?

A wife who can't keep up her personal appearance isn't worth keeping. After all, he didn't marry her to be a household drudge. He married her to be his companion and someone he would be proud of.

No matter how much work she has to do, she could surely find time to comb her hair.

How could she be called a good housekeeper if she can't mend her stockings and iron her clothes, for after all, isn't that considered part of the housework?

No one needs to be all painted up and have a perfectly powdered nose to give a neat appearance.
But it surely shouldn't be too much to comb her hair, mend her stockings and iron her dress.

Who wrote these famous words:
"It is the little things that count?"

I'm sure that there are a lot more who feel the way I do. So let's hear from them and show
"Perplexed Husband" there are still a few civilized people left.

CIVILIZED.

STOCKS KEEP PUSHING TO RECOVERY

Industrials Point Way Upward; Some Reach New High Marks

By VICTOR EUBANK
NEW YORK, April 2. (AP)—The stock market resumed its recovery push today with industrials pointing the way upward for gains of fractions to 3 or more points.

Many issues, including General Motors and U. S. Steel, reached new high territory for the past five years or longer. After a first opening the pace slowed, and profit taking shaded or cancelled some of the advances. After noon the list again hardened without any pronounced pickup in volume.

Among the popular shares around the start of the fourth hour were Chrysler, Bethlehem, Allied Chemical, Westinghouse, Johns-Manville, International Cement, Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, Western Union, Union Pacific and Northern Pacific.

Panhandle Producing & Refining preferred, a 16-share unit, was up 20 points on a few transfers. J. I. Case was among the few backward exceptions.

John Turner, manager of the Santa Ana branch of Brooks Clothing store, today announced the opening of the company's new store at Sycamore and Fourth streets. The new location is on the southwest corner of the intersection, formerly occupied by the Walgreen Drug store.

The building has been remodelled, with the interior finished in oak. An interesting feature of the new store is that there are no ledges and no dust carriers in the interior. Everything is absolutely modern in design. The new store is equipped to handle approximately 33 per cent more stock than was handled at the company's former location at Fourth and Bush streets.

"There is one thing we wish to stress," Mr. Turner said. "We want to emphasize the fact that the young man's wants will be anticipated at Brooks. We have on hand a comprehensive selection of merchandise that is within the means of the average man. We are, of course, featuring the standard value $25 suit for which Brooks has become famous. Our 90 day payment plan without any increase in the cost of the merchandise purchased has always been popular, and will continue to be in vogue at our new store."

Mr. Turner announced that the new store will carry a full line of men's furnishings featuring nationally known brands. Some of the nationally known line handled by Brooks include John B. Stetson hats, B. V. D. sports wear and Phoenix socks.

Four persons were injured last night when two cars crashed head on near the intersection of Seventeenth street and Orange avenue in Costa Mesa, according to a report filed by California highway patrolmen today. The cars were driven by J. A. Tipton, Laguna Beach, and Jack Cunningham, Balboa Island, Tinian, I.

NEW YORK, April 2. (AP)—A $250,000 verdict in favor of Miss Lillian Mendel was returned yesterday by a supreme court jury which heard her $2,000,000 breach of promise suit against Frederic Gimbel, of the department store family.

With the Easter season so near, Easter apparel naturally will be featured at the birthday event. The public will have a wide variety from which to choose, either in the ready to wear department or in the department handling materials for dressmaking. Special concessions have been obtained from the wholesalers who wish to assist in making the event successful.

At the birthday event, a variety of Easter wearing apparel will be featured. Many of the items of special interest include women's and misses' suits, dresses, millinery, lingerie, hosiery, gloves, silk and cotton draperies, and bedding.

LONG TERMS ARE GIVEN SHIRLEY

Branding the case as "the worst he had ever tried in his years on the bench," Superior Judge James L. Allen yesterday imposed the heaviest sentence within his power on D. C. Shirley, 50-year-old Santa Ana, convicted last week of statutory crimes against two 15-year-old girls.

"Those two girls," Judge Allen told Shirley, "were practically orphans, delivered by the state as their guardian to your home for care and protection. I know of no more dastardly crime than that you committed against them."

Judge Allen denied Defense Attorney Meyer's plea that the sentence be allowed to run concurrently, and sentenced Shirley to serve two terms of from one to 50 years in San Quentin state prison, the sentences to run consecutively. Forty-nine now, Shirley would be 74 before he is eligible for parole.

A five-day stay of execution was granted Shirley on plea of Mr. Meyer, "to wind-up his business affairs."

Shirley committed the offenses against the two girls over a period of the past several months, the complaints stated. They had been placed in the state-certified home operated by his wife at 2827 North Main street as wards of the California juvenile court.

His trial was marked by the large crowds that filled the courtroom to capacity during each of its two days duration. Shirley maintained even today that he was being "framed" by a jealous wife.

BOY, 15, FOUND DRUNK HERE

A 15-year-old Santa Ana High school student was arrested by Santa Ana police at 9:30 p. m. yesterday for drunkenness. The report filed by Officers L. H. Nicholson and B. W. Moreland, who made the arrest, read, "Too drunk to stand alone."

The boy was arrested at Fourth and Garfield streets and taken to the station where he was examined by Dr. P. B. Gillespie. The doctor's report read, "This boy is very intoxicated and should be held until sober."

Today the boy's father, who is well known in Santa Ana, is assisting police in a search for the person who gave his son the liquor. This morning, when the lad was taken to the police station for questioning by Assistant Chief of Police Harry Fink, he said he had been given some wine by a Mexican near the railroad tracks.

When the father and son appeared before City Judge J. G. Mitchell this morning, the father told Judge Mitchell the lad had never before been in trouble of any kind. He promised to cooperate with police and expressed a desire to have the man who gave his son the wine brought before the court. The lad was turned over to his father pending his hearing in juvenile court.

"Rhodes the Empire Builder," starring Walter Huston, and "Snowed Under," comedy with George Brent, Genevieve Tobin, Glenda Farrell and Frank McHugh, are on the double feature program which opens today at the Broadway theater.

A Gaumont-British production, "Rhodes the Empire Builder," throbs with thrilling adventure in South Africa. It is an authentic story of the adventures of the famous British empire builder. The film has a cast which includes Oscar Homolka, Basil Sidney, Peggy Ashcraft and Frank Cellier.

"Snowed Under" is a comedy romance which concerns the affairs of a philandering playwright who is besieged in his New England farm house by two exwives and a new sweetheart. By a strange prank of fate all three turn up at his home the same afternoon, and a sudden blizzard leaves them snowed under for the night. The troubles that follow with three jealous women at the man's throat lead to hilarious situations.

NEW TWIN BILL AT BROADWAY

Issue Circular On Sugar Beets

Cultural practices for sugar beets, both those that are established and new ones that give promise of better returns, are described in Agricultural Extension service circular 95, just off the University of California press. The publication was written by Dr. W. W. Robbins, professor of botany on the Davis campus of the university; and Charles Price, associate agronomist of the division of sugar plant investigations of the United States Department of Agriculture, bureau of plant industry. The circular may be obtained free from the farm advisor's office, Santa Ana.

The publication discusses the behavior of the sugar beet under different climatic and soil conditions; and the influence of various environmental factors upon the crop, as expressed in yield of root, yield of top, sugar percentage, and purity. The commoner diseases of the sugar beet in California are briefly described.

Some of the topics discussed are planting, cultivation, thinning, irrigation, harvesting, fertilization, and factors affecting the purity and sugar content of beets.

Barnyard Humor; Rooster Termed 'Lonesome Daddy'

SELMA, Ala., April 2. (AP)—Thieves who raided a Selma chicken coop took 17 fat hens but left behind a rather ancient rooster.

To his leg they tied a note which read: "Lonesome Daddy."

WARN CITRUS GROWERS ON SCOUT ROVER TRIP NORTH PLANNED

The individual citrus grower must watch his step if he wishes to keep his allotment for shipping fruit under the California-Arizona orange and grapefruit agency. Ivan G. McDaniel, attorney for the growers advisory committee of the agency, made this clear today.

Mr. McDaniel said the individual grower as well as the shipper has some responsibility in connection with contractual arrangements between growers and shippers and the transfer of control of fruit from one shipper to another.

"It should be pointed out to all growers that where a grower does not sign his fruit up with a shipper on a bona fide contract, or make an application for a prorate base in his own name, and in cases where it is found that the contract is merely a subterfuge and not a bona fide contract, the grower is apt to lose the allotment issued on his fruit for that portion of the season, and may have difficulty in moving his crop," the ruling by Mr. McDaniel said.

"The growers advisory committee has ruled that each shipper must submit copies of contracts used by them and must show any changes made therein either upon the contract or by separate memoranda. Where a contract which is legal upon its face is changed by a separate memorandum the two documents will be read together and if found to be invalid as a bona fide contract, the shipper will immediately lose the prorate upon that fruit and his prorate base adjusted as above set forth, and the grower may lose the advantage of the allotment issued upon the fruit up to that time.

"Where no bona fide contract exists between the grower and the shipper, but the shipper includes the grower's fruit within the estimate, then not only is the amount of the grower's fruit taken from the shipper's estimate, and the prorate base reduced accordingly, but such shipper's prorate base is also further reduced to correct the error of including this fruit within the estimate so that over the remainder of the season any advantage obtained by the shipper will be eliminated.

"The federal order regulating the handling of oranges and grapefruit grown in the state of California and Arizona and the California state license, both provide that shippers may include within their estimates for the purpose of obtaining a prorate base and allotment only such fruit as the shipper controls during the current shipping season by a bona fide written agreement, giving him authority to ship or by having legal title, or by having paid therefor 5 per cent of the purchase price.

"A bona fide contract is one in which the shipper agrees to buy or to handle, and the grower agrees to sell or permit the shipper to handle the grower's fruit, which contract must be made in good faith and with the intention of performing the same. A contract which may be cancelled without liability at the will of the grower or shipper is invalid for want of mutuality and is therefore no contract. Also if neither party is bound to perform unless they can agree on price at the time of picking there is no binding obligation," he concluded.

The Men and the Idea

AS CONGRESS delves deeper into the fate of the $951,964 in dimes and quarters which hopeful subscribers gave to the Townsend old age pensions organization—and as Dr. Townsend and Robert E. Clements, co-founder, relinquish leadership of the nationwide movement—some startling evidence is brought to light at Washington.

Admission is made by Mr. Clements that the Old Age Revolving Pensions, Ltd., corporation can dissolve at any time, with the incorporators dividing up the money among themselves. And that he, the doctor, and the doctor's brother in Los Angeles, are the incorporators.

It also develops that last year Mr. Clements received $12,535 from the movement, his wife received $1,475, and that their rent, grocery bills, maid service, and utility bills were paid by the OARP funds.

A written statement by Dr. F. E. Townsend that "it looks to me as if there might be millions in it" has been submitted to the house committee.

Receipt of high commissions by Townsend area managers, at least one of whom has an unsavory court record but was kept on the payroll because he was a "good producer," have been revealed.

If these charges are true—it is not surprising that Dr. Townsend and Mr. Clements are stepping out of the picture—and that Representative McGroarty of Los Angeles predicts repudiation of the Townsend leadership by those who have devoted loyal efforts solely to putting the $200-a-month idea into national legislative form. Judgment should be withheld, however, until the probe is over.

The next few months should tell which is bigger—the OARP idea or the two men who launched it into national prominence.

If They'll Only Vote

MORE than 60,000 citizens of Orange county have registered and are eligible to vote in the presidential primary in May. How many of them will exercise that right? We predict that not more than two-thirds, and we hope we underestimate.

Past elections in California have demonstrated a woeful lack of interest in both candidates and issues. There has been considerable reason for that. Neither have been too attractive to the electorate. But after all, if there's anything wrong with democracy, it is the electorate's fault. If candidates have been mediocre and issues dull, it has been because the voters have not shown the enthusiasm for good government that makes for importance in candidates and issues.

If at least 90 per cent of the registered voters would go to the polls in May and snap out their decisions in the presidential race we would see election interest pick up as it hasn't done in years. If voters will show a few times that they appreciate good men and demand attention to vital problems they'll get both.

Until that is done the boys in the back room will continue to run things.

Great Armaments Breed Wars

ALONG the Asiatic trouble line, Russian and Japanese soldiers scattered pot-shots at each other again this week. From Moscow comes word that the Russians were merely repelling a Japanese attack. From Tokyo comes advice that "a band of Russian soldiers attacked a detachment of Japanese and Manchoukuoan army surveyors."

Such talk is small boy stuff, in the "he did it," "no I didn't, you did it" stage. Who started shooting is not important. The point is, trouble has started, as sooner or later it was certain to do.

International great minds tell us the present economic and political reasons for the coming trouble between Japan and Russia. But there's another reason. Russia has built the biggest army in the world. Japan, with its powerful military, has pressed on through Manchoukuo, toward Mongolia. Both are itching to try out their formidable weapons. They have fondled steel so long that they eventually will answer the desire to use it.

Let America and the rest of the world profit by the example of what is happening in Asia.

A vice president is a man who sits in a rumble seat for four years while somebody else drives.

A Wave of 'Confessions'

IS PAUL H. WENDEL'S "confession" of the Lindbergh baby murder genuine? Or is it a fraudulent effort to save Hauptmann? Or an attempt to gain publicity? Or simply the hallucination of a feeble mind? Psychiatrists apparently incline to the latter belief.

Usually in the past, each major crime case which has excited wide interest has been followed by just such "confessions." This is especially true of patients in the prison department of large hospitals for mental disease. A sick mind may make the individual certain that he is guilty of the worst crime in the world, and if he hears of one having been committed, he feels sure he did it and confesses to it.

Psychiatrists will not make any official predictions, but a whole wave of confessions similar to the Wendel statement would not surprise them because, as one of them pointed out, in the field of human behavior there seems to be nothing impossible.

One of the great mysteries is what ever became of that chain letter fad.

Why We Prefer a Democracy

VIENNA, April 1. (AP)—The federal diet, by unanimous vote, today made "service to the fatherland" compulsory, granting the government unlimited authority to conscript men for labor on public works projects and for military duties in emergencies.

Whimsies of O. O. McIntyre

These are evenings for escapists to watch the extraordinary sunsets from Inspiration Point, that up-sweep of Riverside Drive near Medical Center. The Jersey palisades, rising sheer from the sparkling Hudson, are never so lovely as when A. J. Fading Joseph's coat.

Famed painters are there to catch it on canvas and photographers on film. Sentimentalists fill several blocks of parked cars. Washington Irving devoted an essay to this miracle of a closing day and Andre Maurois called it the most entrancing vista in America next to the Grand Canyon.

It's winter's farewell, the season of changing colors along the palisades. One moment they catch the sudden blood red of the swollen sun, then as though in hideous suppuration the pasty yellow of arid and finally with sudden shift evening dies in a sort of exquisite purple pang.

Scattered of stars twinkle forth, cold and gleaming. A fairland of lights zig-zag over an amusement park to flutter petals of gold. River craft suggests darting fireflies. And the light-strung Washington Bridge etches its feathery tracing against a distant solitude of blue.

One wonders from what melancholy minds seep so many sad, drab plays this season. Every theme, total frustration. If there were a Book of Common Sense, it should say on Page 1: "Amusement demands more brains than instruction." No propaganda or didactic play ever changed the current of human thought. Not one ever had the significance of Uncle Tom's Cabin, Black Beauty or The Jungle. Every person who has been through the mill of play-going knows these self-evident truths; that plays should be entertaining, provide humor and reek with women.

One of the tragedies of the theater to many is the comparative obscurity of Henrietta Crossman, the most scintillating actress of her time, expressing the true champagne sparkle. She lost much of her fortune and acquired black disfigurement in backing "Pillgrim's Progress." So bruised was she by this drop that she never seemed interested in climbing up again. Today she is playing grandmother roles in pictures—and turning her head from the camera most of the time.

The double talk inanity continues to spread its confusion. It consists in interpolating meaningless words and phrases into what is otherwise ordinary conversation. Such made-up as: "mitten-ditten, abasquum, enterio, pillec, etc." So artfully is it spoken that the unsuspecting listener thinks he is going goofy. Rube Goldberg is an expert. So is Francis Madux, of the torch chansons. I have heard of several reputedly responsible for originating it. Among them Ring Lardner, Noel Coward and Cole Porter. It sounds thoroughly Lardnerian.

Jim Tully, over a stretch of 10 years, has turned out more than a million words annually. First rate stuff that has gone generally to the better magazines. Few American writers can beat a greater output and only one in England—the late Edgar Wallace. Tully, whose prices often touch 60 cents a word, is far removed from his gay cat days of the hobo jungles. He occupies an imposing house on a ranch near Hollywood, which is called "Tully Timber." For the past eight months he has been working on a novel which Gene Fowler, a crack novelist himself, says is Tully's best and most ambitious effort. Tully, like Lawrence Tibbett, is a discovery of Rupert Hughes.

Thingumabobs: Pulling down the Pontiac in Palm Beach has almost vanquished the bicycle roller chairs. . . Victor Hugo was made ill by taste of cherries. . . Herb Roth swore off formal evening dress nine years ago and has kept the oath. . . Robert Edison used to haze playrights by having someone sandpaper a rough board in the next room when a play was being read. . . Charles Francis Coe is an expert landing sailfish. . . No matter how much Katherine Hepburn disguises herself in public, her raspy voice is a giveaway.

When Dean Cornwell, the illustrator, was journeying to Florida recently with some fellow artists a dashing young blonde approached to explain she was interested in art. She asked if he did anything aside from illustrations. He replied he had done murals. "O, how wonderful," she cooed. "Tell me those yours in the Sert Room at the Waldorf?"

BEAUTIFUL HANDS (Sent in by J. L. M.)

Last night I held a little hand, So dainty and so neat; I thought my heart would surely burst.

So wildly did it beat, No other hand into my soul Could greater gladness bring, Than that I held so tight last night.

Four aces and a king.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Dr. Hans Luther, retort, serious-minded ambassador of Germany, was visiting R. Walton Moore, assistant secretary of state. Mr. Moore has a delicious sense of humor, which he conceals under a very grave mien.

Referring to Hitler's remilitarization of the Rhineland, he said to Ambassador Luther: "That chancellor of yours is certainly raising hell in Europe."

"Mr. Secretary," replied the German ambassador, not catching the twinkle in Moore's eye, "I am afraid I cannot listen to anything derogatory to my chancellor."

"The hell you can't," shot back Moore. "You sit right there and listen to me."

"Mr. Secretary," replied Luther, in almost a plaintive voice, "Chancellor Hitler is a very fine man, one of the finest leaders Germany has ever had. If you must persist in discussing him in those terms, I must ask you to excuse me."

NOTE.—Dr. Luther, himself once chancellor of Germany, also minister of finance, was heartily out of sympathy with the Nazi movement when Hitler seized control, narrowly escaped exile, instead was kicked upstairs as ambassador.

CONTRASTS

The new 1937 appropriation bills carry some interesting contrasts in expenditure:

Amount spent by navy per day, $1,510,433.82.

Amount spent by state department per day, $12,951.10.

Amount spent by FERA for relief, per family, per day, 82c.

HARD-BOILED

Senator Royal S. Copeland wears a red carnation and has an ingratiating smile. But there is nothing soft about the New Yorker's legislative methods.

Copeland is author of a ship subsidy bill. It is warmly approved by shipping interests and violently opposed by senate liberals, both Democrats and Republicans. They claim it is a barefaced boodle raid on the public till.

For weeks, Copeland has been trying to get his bill reported favorably by the commerce committee, of which he is a chairman. Finally he staged a marvelous feat of conjury.

There were 11 committee members present. Senator Joe Guffey of Pennsylvania, author of a rival measure opposed by the ship operators, moved that this bill be substituted for Copeland's.

The count was 7 to 4 in favor of Guffey's motion. Whereupon Copeland announced he held the proxies of five absent members and voted them for himself, making the ballot 9 to 7 in his favor.

But after the committee adjourned, members learned that at least one absentee, Senator Ernest W. Gibson of Vermont, had told Copeland he was opposed to his bill; that several others whom Copeland had voted, actually intended signing Guffey's minority report.

HORSE ENCOURAGEMENT

The new army appropriation bill provides $72,155 for the "encouragement of breeding of riding horses suitable for the army."

Simultaneously the amount allotted to the state department for "promotion of foreign trade" was $70,000.

MAN-HUNT

"Uncle Dan" Roper is engaged in a grim man-hunt.

He is out to scalp the official responsible for the leak to the press that gave out the report on how the end of the NRA had lengthened hours and reduced wages.

Submitted to the White House by the NRA committee, the report was turned over to Roper by the President's secretary, Marvin McIntyre. Roper took one look at the document and, ever solicitous of the sensibilities of business interests, promptly locked it up.

There it stayed for six weeks until, very mysteriously, a copy found its way into the hands of the press.

No department in the government is as secretive and gag-ridden as Roper's. Hardly a month goes by that he does not suppress, or attempt to suppress, some report. This time he swore vengeance on the "leaker."

The files of the commerce department official who had charge of the report actually were broken into during his absence and the number of copies counted to see if any were missing. They were all there.

An innocent member of the committee then was accused. To clear himself, he had to get a written statement from newspapermen stating that he had not given out the report.

Several other officials have been put on the carpet and quizzed—without result. Roper is still on the trail, but it is growing cold.

Publication of the above, however, doubtless will lead to a new man-hunt.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

The baseball diamond has sent a lot of senators to Washington: Russell of Georgia, Reynolds of North Carolina, Steiwer of Oregon, Minton of Indiana, Brown of New Hampshire—all stars of the college diamond. Brown went further. He used to catch for the Boston Braves. . . Senator Bachman of Tennessee dresses like a head waiter now, but he used to wear the football togs of center college. . . Senator Murray of Montana was once nationally known as a hockey player. Senator Barbour of New Jersey as a mateur heavyweight boxing champion. . . The supreme court killed the Blue Eagle, but it could not kill the NRA baseball team, champions of the government league last year. Many dismissed NRA employees had difficulty finding new jobs, but the baseball team was picked up by Rex Tugwell for his resettlement administration. . . Most elephantine government organization soon will be the social security board, which must employ enough clerical help to keep files on the 25,000,000 people who will be entitled to old age benefits. Social security offices already have bulged out of labor department to commerce across the street. The staff will run to 10,000, then taper off to about 8000.

TWIN MARMOSETS BORN

SANTA CRUZ, (AP)—Twin babies weighing less than a pound each were born to two marmosets from Ecuador owned by J. P. Walker here. It is rare for marmosets to give birth in this country, Walker said.

APPEALS TO PRESS

To the Editor: Anent the congressional investigation of the Townsend old age pension plan and its organizers now going on in Washington, I would beg space in which to state a few facts:

I want to acknowledge that we still have a "free press," but no longer a fair and honest press, much to the shame and disgrace of that profession.

So far, instead of giving a fair and unbiased report of the investigation, the news reporters for both the Associated and U. P. News Service, are sending out garbled, distorted and lying statements of the facts just as was expected when the investigation started. This of course, was thus so purpose and motive—to give the public a perverted report in order to discourage its supporters and discredit the motives of its leaders.

However, in this their efforts are working as a boomerang, as Townsend clubs everywhere are adding new members daily and old members are working harder and more energetically than ever. The sad and lamentable fact about the whole thing is that local newspapers whose heartthrobs are supposed to be close to their readers and at the fireside of their neighbors, should lend their columns, to the dissemination of such nefarious, and lying propaganda.

If there ever was a more earnest, honest-to-goodness and honestly conducted organization for the betterment and amelioration of a suffering humanity in the United States or anywhere else, than the Townsend plan, we have never heard or read about it, and since none of its objectors have offered a better plan, then all we ask is a chance to prove our belief. The fact that the movement has spread into every nook and corner of the country within the past two years on so small an outlay of money, shows it to be a very popular and accepted cure for the depressing ills this country has been suffering for the past six or more years. Come on, you "free press," and give the Townsend people a square and fair deal.

F. W. TROUT.

RUN ITS COURSE?

To the Editor: After reading the testimony of R. E. Clements, late of the OARP, before the congressional committee investigating old age pension racket, the thought occurs: Why, if there is any foundation whatever for the rosy word pictures of the practicability and general benefit to rebound to the whole country if the Townsend scheme is launched, there has not been at least one man in this broad land, of acknowledged business ability, financially responsible, recognized as a sound economist and unimpaired by political yearnings, who has given the scheme his unqualified approval? So far as I know, no such has appeared—and there is no likelihood that any will.

The only ones who can seem to really understand the thing and those who have had little, if any, experience with practical affairs. Retired country doctors, poets, a few ministers of the gospel, retired laborers, ex-government employees and such are the ones to whom the right is given.

The disease, probably, has nearly run its course but it is still dangerous so long as vote-seeking demagogic public officials, and candidates for public office, lick-spittle around the Townsend clubs; and we have too many such in this country to the highest to some of the little ones near home. One Man's Opinion

By Duncan Ellsworth Clark

EDITOR'S NOTE—Here is an informative, analytical daily feature on current topics. The opinions expressed in this column are not necessarily the same as those held by The Journal.

Civilized Man Still Is a Product of the Soil

FUNDAMENTALLY, man is a biological creature, the product of elements. He is subject to the laws of heredity, the same as all other living things. He may boast of his mental achievements, his spiritual victories, his triumphs over nature. But always the same immutable forces behind him to the soil from whence he came, from which comes his sustenance and into which he must return.

The span of life is lengthening. Science and medicine, sanitation and hygiene are spinning man's days to new levels. Expectancy of life, in infancy, has been doubled and almost trebled within the last century. Proof is convincing that man is not so much the victim of blind forces as he is of his own ignorance, folly and stubborn dumbness. When he follows nature's rules he lives. When he neglects or violates them he declines and dies.

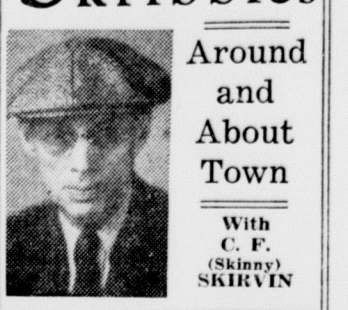

While life expectancy increases, there is another aspect of the matter. Beyond 40, the "critical age," the length of life seems to be shortening. The softening effects of social "culture" wait until health guards are shattered and then get in their deadly lick. Physical breakdown is alarmingly prevalent. Cancer, heart disease, diabetes, nervous disorders, hardening of the arteries, these are on the increase. Deficiency diseases, like tuberculosis, thriving in an age of scarcity, are decreasing. But the end-products of too much prosperity, too much gluttony, too much pampering ease, too much excitement, "diseases of plenty" are swinging the scythe more actively than ever.

Civilized man has been ranting around for only a scratch of time. A few thousand years and that is all. But primitive man, primordial ancestors, go back into the multitude of ages. He is a man, silly and arrogant, thinks he can disown those savage forbears. They don't fit into his polite society. He wants nothing to do with these poor relations.

But modern man, whether he admits it or not, is still a creature of earth. Natural laws of living cannot be suspended at his command. His blood is no different from that of his remotest ancestor. Nor his nerves, nor his digestive apparatus, nor his vision. Soil, sun and water still must serve him as they have always. And this bumptious modern biped dilutes, adulterates and substitutes at his peril.

Skinny Skribbles

Around and About Town

With C. F. SKIRVIN

I'm going to the next Elks National convention, and I'm not a delegate. The Elks gather in Los Angeles during the week of July 12, and I should be able to get that far. Last time I attended an Elks convention in Los Angeles the Santa Ana boys went into the parade with a big paper mache orange around their heads. Before the parade was over the orange emblem got fairly heavy, and my traveling companion ditched his on a vacant lot.

Canned rattlesnake meat is being put on the market in Florida. I don't like it. I don't like to introduce snakes. The prohibitory law has hardly been repealed. But wait a minute—maybe these have hips.

Dick Iahn slips over occasionally to lecture the typewriters, and does a good job of it, but so far he hasn't let any ideas on my machine. He's a little bit of a nut, but I don't think he's a fellow who mixes up with typewriters should be able to reveal a few locations where the gossip would yield an occasional paragraph.

A scientist now comes in with the information that if we could look at the earth from an astronomical distance it would appear blue. For the love of Mike, we've had a much closer perspective for the past few years, and it's blue, all right, all right.

A Utah literati assures us there was no discordance in Shakespeare's family life. Well, that hasn't been worrying me for the past few years, nor Shakespeare for several hundred years. And what assurance have we that our literary friend is any more correct about the Shakespeare tranquility, than those who are just as certain of its discord. Anyway, the man who was able to write "The Taming of the Shrew," must have known something about family life and its variations.

Understand one of the coast cities has a Pelican club. You are not initiated until you get a bill.

Shades of Columbus, scientists now aver that the world is lopsided because there are more stars on one side than the other. Maybe so, maybe so, but to the naïveté eye the heavenly constellation looks the same to me as when I was a boy. It may be Hollywood is to blame.

Frank Playin says when I begin to wear a straw hat he will be convinced that spring is here.

I don't save the brevity of the modern honeymoon. Is it the depression or indigestion which breaks up the domestic tranquility? Maybe it's the sophistication of the age. In court they call it incompatibility, which means the harmony has broken down and the honeymoon is over. Something wrong or so many weddings would not go on the rocks. Love lacks the preservative of forbearance, tolerance; it's too fickle, transient. Seems to me it needs the old-time virtue of constancy.

I had an illuminating conversation with a friend a few days ago. He said he had obtained employment, and his salary was to be so much per week if he could get it. Some job.

I am not satisfied with the explanation of the medical fraternity as to the origin of sleeping sickness, scientifically known as encephalitis. My research attributes the first case to a parishioner of the early church who fell out of a window during the delivery of a lengthy sermon. You will find corroboration of this opinion in the 20th chapter of Acts.

What I do not know about facial adornment would make a large volume, but I have always been of the opinion that the school girl complexion was a gift of nature, and that cosmetics removed it.

It is said that a lock of Milton's hair is in possession of a New York firm of booksellers. A lock of hair in possession of a husband would create much more excitement if it proved to belong to another woman.

George Kellogg of Yorba Linda completed a year's service as president of the Orange County Associated Chambers of Commerce at the conclusion of the meeting held Wednesday evening in Santa Ana. It's an easy job to serve as president if you just preside, but if you insist on a vigorous performance, that's something else, and there has been plenty doing during the Kellogg administration. This organization seems to accumulate a lot of unfinished business from all over the county, and give it careful and intelligent consideration. There is a lot of information in that group, and when the subjects are water and oranges there the debates begin to sparkle. When Kellogg ventures in the prediction that the orange growers would get twice as much this year as they did last no one lost his temper.
